Kennedy Gives Up Senate Seat

Spokesman Says President-Elect, Dillon In Accord

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — President-elect John F. Kennedy resigned his U.S. Senate seat Thursday in the midst of a recruiting campaign for people to man the remaining top posts of his administration.

And a Kennedy spokesman said the president-elect and his choice for secretary of the Treasury, Douglas Dillon, are "in complete agreement on a sound fiscal policy which would include a steady rate of economic growth."

Kennedy also discussed aid to education legislation with Rep. Frank Thompson, D-N.J., a member of the House Education and Labor Committee.

Heller Appointment Seen

Another Kennedy appointment to an administration position probably will be announced Friday. This may be the selection of Dr. Walter Heller, 45, University of Minnesota economist, as chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers.

All these activities are in preparation for the switch from a Republican to a Democratic regime on Jan. 20.

But the Kennedys also were preparing for Christmas at their spacious Spanish-style home overlooking the Atlantic.

The Christmas tree arrived Wednesday. The turkey came Thursday — from Massachusetts. And the president-elect's father, Joseph P. Kennedy, arrived from New York, with word that his wife would be here Christmas Eve.

Six Stockings Ready

There will be a tree-trimming Christmas Eve, with Kennedy's frisky 3-year-old, Caroline, taking a hand in the first yuletide activities she is old enough to appreciate. Six stockings will be hung on the fireplace mantel, including one for month-old John F. Kennedy Jr.

The Kennedy resignation from the Senate was a matter of routine on which only the timing had been in question. He wrote a letter of resignation, effective at once, and sent it by air mail to Gov. Foster Furcolo of Massachusetts. He sent a copy, along with a covering letter, to Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the man he defeated for the White House.

This completed the legal requirements for giving up the Senate seat and opened the way for Furcolo to appoint Benjamin A. Smith II of Gloucester, Mass., to the vacancy.

Reds Plotting Organization Of U.S. Youth

WASHINGTON (AP) — FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover reported Thursday that the Communist party in this country is concentrating on America's youth.

Red leaders already have begun issuing a special publication aimed directly at young people, Hoover reported, and are planning to set up a new national youth organization at a meeting in Chicago starting New Year's Eve.

Hoover, in a year-end report to Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers, said the Communist party remains the largest subversive organization in the United States.

"During this period of grave international tension, America cannot afford to relax her internal defenses even momentarily. This is true particularly in our dealings with Communists — both the 'home-grown' party members and Those sent here to represent Iron Curtain countries," Hoover said.

Hoover, who has agreed to continue as FBI director in the new Kennedy administration, reported that FBI investigations this year "disclosed that an alarming number of Soviet and satellite diplomatic personnel have intelligence assignments in this country."

He cited espionage charges against two Soviet Embassy secretaries which resulted in their being declared unwelcome last summer, and the arrest of three persons who lacked diplomatic immunity on spy charges. One of these was a Soviet national employed by the United Nations secretariat.

Under the leadership of the Moscow-trained Gus Hall, Hoover said, the Red party in this country has strengthened its ties with the Soviet Union as well as with Communists in Cuba and elsewhere during the past year.

"Particularly significant is the party's new emphasis upon youth activities. Under the editorship of their national youth director, the Communists have begun issuing a special publication, 'New Horizons for Youth,' aimed directly at America's young people," Hoover reported.

Dutch Premier To Quit In Crisis

THE HAGUE, the Netherlands (AP) — Dutch Premier Jan Eduard de Quay plans to submit his resignation to Queen Juliana at noon Friday after a breakup of his coalition government on a public housing issue.

His 19-month-old Liberal Cabinet — the first of its kind in the postwar era — fell unexpectly late Thursday night when the 150-member lower house of Parliament passed by 70-59 a motion the government vetoed earlier.

The lower house called on the government — over its veto — to add 5,000 subsidized dwellings to its program for building 80,000 homes within a year.

Public Works Minister Johannes Van Aartsen, a right-wing Protestant, tried a compromise of 2,500 additional dwellings but refused to go along with the additional 5,000 under the threat of resigning.

Lee Becomes Third Sub To Fire Polaris

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — The USS Robert E. Lee Thursday sent a Polaris rocket and dummy warhead more than 1,300 miles over the Atlantic Ocean in a "Christmas present" debut as the nation's third ballistic missile firing nuclear submarine.

The 15-ton Polaris was launched as the 380-foot sub cruised some 50 feet below the surface about 30 miles east of Cape Canaveral.

Bone-Chilling Cold Grips East Half Of Nation

By The Associated Press

Bitter cold gripped most of the nation's eastern half Thursday.

The flood of arctic air kept the mercury below the freezing mark through the day from the Rockies to the Atlantic Coast, and as far south as northern Texas and the upper portions of the Gulf states. Only Florida, in the Southeast, escaped severe winter rigors, after nighttime freezing.

Temperatures remained close to zero or below it across the Upper Plains and Mississippi Valley and the Great Lakes area. Bone-chilling weather remained after a night of record low readings in the Southeast which followed the sweep of a snowstorm Tuesday and Wednesday from the Plains in the Middle Atlantic seaboard.

In Louisville, Ky., where an 8-below-zero night set a record cold reading, the thermometer reading was 14 degrees at midday.

Chicago had a 3-above-zero reading in midafternoon, and it was 7 degrees in Detroit after a zero night. Atlanta, where the low record set was 11 degrees, reported 29 in the afternoon.

By contrast, Southern California had summery climate with 75 degrees at Los Angeles.

Miami warmed to a comfortable 57 during the day after a minimum of 39 degrees. But fruit and vegetable farmers even as far south as the inland Everglades area worried out a frost forecast for Thursday night.

Deaths, including many from overexertion in snow cleanup operations, numbered at least 60.

Snow Produced By Atomic Plant

OAK RIDGE, Tenn. (AP)—The western fringe of Oak Ridge was pelted Thursday with atomic-produced snow.

The Knoxville Weather Bureau said this is what happened:

Steam escaping from the huge gaseous diffusion atomic energy plant in a cooling off process formed into a cloud. As the cloud rose in the cold, dry air, it turned into snow. About ¼ inch of snow fell. It is not radioactive, officials said.

The plant, which produces fissionable Uranium-235, is about 13 miles west of Oak Ridge proper.

Record Number Pay Record Income Tax

WASHINGTON (AP)—A record number of taxpayers paid record federal income taxes this year on record 1959 earnings.

Reporting this Thursday, the Internal Revenue Service gave these preliminary figures for returns filed by individuals:

The number of returns increased to 60.3 million from 59 1 million in 1959. Reported gross income advanced to $305.8 billion from $281.2 billion. Taxes paid jumped to $38.9 billion from $34.3 billion.

FAA Plans No Changes In N.Y. Air Traffic Setup

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Aviation Agency intends to continue the air traffic guidance system around New York as it is.

It will, that is, unless the investigation by the Civil Aeronautics Board into the disastrous collision of two airliners there last Friday turns up new evidence of need for change.

Meanwhile, Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney, D-Okla., said his Senate Air Safety Committee will open an inquiry into the New York crash and other aspects of air safety on Feb. 1

A spokesman for the FAA replied with a definite "no" when asked by newsmen Thursday if, as a result of the collision of the United DC8 jet and TWA piston-engine liners, changes would be made in either procedure or personnel in the high density air traffic region of the metropolis.

On the basis of present information, which includes a tape recording of radio conversations among ground control points and the planes, the spokesman said, "We know of nothing now that requires a change." But it was explained that this will depend on what the CAB inquiry, now under way, might develop.

The FAA, however, already has programs for improvement and development of new air traffic control under way. One of these research projects includes perfection of a three-dimensional radar.

Radar now used for civilian air traffic control presents to a traffic controller only a "picture" on a flat plane. To the eyes of the skyward-looking radar all aircraft sighted are on a single level or "floor."

A three-dimensional radar would show the height of individual planes, as well as their two-dimension aspects of location and direction of flight.

Pope Pleads For Truth In Modern Life

Annual Christmas Message Again Has Peace As Theme

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII gave his annual Christmas message to the world Thursday and coupled with it an impassioned plea for truth in modern life.

The 79-year-old supreme ruler of the Roman Catholic Church urged world leaders to "act honorably in these days of general danger."

And he urged all in the mass media of communication — press, radio, TV and movies — to dedicate themselves to truth. The Pope said that it seemed at times as though there were today a "counter-decalogue" to the Ten Commandments.

The pontiff took as the theme of his message - the third at Christmas since his election to St. Peter's throne — from a Biblical quotation by John on Jesus Christ: "We saw his glory, the glory as it were of the only begotten on the Father, full of grace and truth. (John I 14)."

Radio and TV carried the Pope's words and image to many parts of the world. In the next three days, the Vatican radio will broadcast translations in 30 languages.

The message continued the general theme of peace on earth that has marked papal Christmas messages since 1939, when Pope Pius XII began the unbroken series on the eve of World War II with an impassioned plea for peace.

"Dear children," the Pope said, "we are once again drawn to the vision of Bethlehm; to the light of the word incarnate, to His grace and truth, who desires to win all to himself.

"The silence of that holy night and the contemplation of that scene of peace are most eloquent. Let us direct our steps to Bethlehem with innocent eyes and welcoming hearts."

The Pope was shown speaking near a window through which could be seen St. Peter's Square at night — the obelisk and the famed Bernini colonnade lighted. From time to time an automobile—tiny in the distance — could be seen driving through the big square.

Belgian Strike Snowballing

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Armed riot police took up positions around Parliament and government buildings Thursday night as a strike against the government's planned austerity program threatened to paralyze Belgium.

The strike rolls rose to about 100,000 as teachers joined the walkout of miners, dockers, railwaymen and other workers.

In Parliament, President Baron Paul Kronacker suspended a session discussing the new program when opposition Socialist deputies continually made noisy interruptions.

The planned legislation calls for a $200-million cut in state expenditure and a rise of nearly $100 million taxes.

The tax boosts will hit everyone and are the main target of the strikers. But the government says austerity is necessary to help offset losses of revenue from the Congo, which was given its independence this summer.

In Charleroi, largest southern industrial center, the strike was total in the railways, streetcars, buses, big industries, schools, municipal administrations and coal mines. Few post office, cable or telephone employes were working.

In Liege, a big eastern industrial center, gas and electricity companies, coal mines, schools and municipal administrations were strikebound.

50 Persons Drown When Launch Sinks

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Fifty persons were reported drowned Wednesday when a motor launch caught fire and sank in the Persian Gulf. The newspaper Keyham said there were only three survivors picked up by a Japanese ship and landed at Abadan Thursday. They had clung to wreckage for hours.

The motor launch had been bound for Kuwait from Port Dailam.

Mitchell Heads Railroad Work Rule Study Unit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Outgoing Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell was chosen Thursday to head a precedent-setting commission in industrial relations. It will try to solve a long-standing dispute over what the railroads call make-work practices by its unions.

President Eisenhower named Mitchell to head the 15-man commission on recommendation of both sides—the railroads and five operating brotherhoods, who contend the practices at issue are important to safety.

Eisenhower also appointed four members, beside Mitchell, to represent the public while endorsing five representatives put forward by each of the disputing interests.

All but one of the commission were on hand for a brief meeting after Eisenhower acted. They arranged a formal organizing session for Jan. 6. Their study will take a year.

In announcing creation of the commission, Eisenhower hailed it as a "major and constructive innovation that will prove to be a significant achievement in the progress of labor-management relations toward greater maturity and stability."

Mitchell, who leaves office when the John F. Kennedy administration takes over Jan. 20, told newsmen this is the first time a presidential commission has been set up as the result of a voluntary labor-management agreement.

"A great forward step in industrial relations," he called it.

The commission's recommendations will be advisory only. However, if the railroad management and the unions cannot reach agreement on the basis of these proposals, they still can work through the arbitration machinery of the Railway Labor Board.

At issue are work rules and practices which the railroads call featherbedding. The roads say these practices cost them about $500 million a year.

The unions argue the practices—stationing a fireman on oil-burning diesel locomotives, for example — are in the interests of greater safety.

Ailing Gorillas Receive Oxygen And Affection

NEW YORK (AP) — Dr. Deets Pickett, who slept on a cot with three sick gorillas in his arms, explained Thursday that "they require affection" as well as medicine and oxygen.

The New York Port Authority provided emergency oxygen and child-sized masks for the three the Kansas biologist slept with Wednesday as well as for his two other sick gorillas.

All five had arrived by airplane from Paris, suffering from pneumonia.

Besides oxygen, Dr. Pickett gave the gorillas stimulating injections, intravenous shots of dextrose and antibiotics. He also rubbed their feet.

"And they require affection," he remarked. "When I finally got to sleep at about 5 a.m. there were three in my arms. We slept on a cot."

That put four of the five on the road to recovery.

Dr. Pickett said he planned to take all five by plane to Kansas City, Mo., the sick one in his arms.

Dr. Pickett, who lives at Leawood, Kans., is an animal importer. He brought the gorillas from Africa.

Two Ethiopian Revolt Leaders Captured

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (UPI) —Army troops loyal to Emperor Haile Selassie have captured two of the ringleaders in last week's abortive revolt, one of them in a 90-minute gun battle, a government spokesman announced Thursday.

The spokesman said Gatatchew Bekele, assistant minister of marine affairs, was taken alive in an hour and a half battle that sent troops racing from one end of Addis Ababa to the other. The second ringleader was Capt. Asrat Deferassau of the imperial bodyguard.

The revolt was led by the imperial bodyguard and the spokesman said troops have rounded up 3,100. He reported that 2,000 have been released on bail and another 400 freed unconditionally. He said 475 bodyguards were killed or wounded and another 325 still at large.

La. Legislature Bitterly Assails Federal Courts

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — The Louisiana Legislature Thursday denounced federal courts as "Tyrannical, unreasonable, unsound, illegal" for their decisions in the New Orleans school integration dispute.

The state's lawmakers — still fighting to preserve segregation in the public school system — went home until Jan. 4, but not without first firing some choice words at the federal judiciary.

U.S. district courts in New Orleans have outlawed just about every step taken by the legislature in the battle against integration.

The latest federal edict cited Lt. Gov. C. C. Aycock and two other top state officials for contempt of court for interfering with the operation of New Orleans schools.

The order issued Wednesday ordered Aycock, along with House Speaker Tom Jewell and Education Supt. Shelby Jackson, to show cause Jan. 13 why they should not be held for contempt.

At the two integrated schools in New Orleans, there was little change from the pattern of the last several days. Eight white children and one Negro girl in the first grade went to classes at William Frantz. At McDonogh No. 19 only three Negro girls went to school.

Before legislators closed business at Baton Rouge for the holidays, they went on record condemning the federal courts for attempting "to intimidate officials who have performed their sworn duties."

The lawmakers put off until they return a final vote on a bill backed by Gov. Jimmie H. Davis to hike the state sales tax one cent. The proposal would raise $28 million for grants-in-aid to children who do not want to attend integrated schools and pave the way for private, segregated schools.

School teachers in New Orleans faced a payless Christmas. The legislature has refused to release funds to the city's school board—one the legislature tried to replace with five appointees — and banks are under state order not to do business with the board.

Youngsters In Pa. Dutch Country Await Unjolly Old Belsnickel, Not Santa Claus

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP) — Like everybody else, you doubtless think of Santa Claus as a fellow of infinite mirth, handing out largesse as though there were no tomorrow.

By long and dear tradition, he comes bucketing in on Christmas Eve, stroking his expansive midsection and buckling his knees in sheer delight with the human race and charity for its failings.

Not in many parts of the Pennsylvania country.

Here it is not Santa, but the spirit of Belsnickel, transplated from Middle Europe long ago, that still holds sway in home after home.

It would be easy to dub Belsnickel a killjoy. His very name comes, through a chain of language corruptions, from old German words meaning something of a stinker. So Belsnickel survives in folklore as Santa's sourpuss alter ego.

Belsnickel has many meanings. The gentlest is "St. Nicholas in furs." But Belsnickel being frugal, leaves furs to the big-time spenders and makes do with rough, unprepossessing costumes. This forbidding front also keeps the kids in order.

Belsnickel usually wears a false-face or a mask, more of a Halloween gargoyle than anything resembling a Santa facade. He comes with gifts all right, but only candy, nuts and cookies. These he casts on the floor, and when the children scramble for them he exposes a whip or switch, lashing it over their heads.

Model children may gather the gifts without fear of punishment, whereas those who have misbehaved or failed to memorize their catechism are whacked on the hands or across the back. Belsnickel has his own radar system for separting the goodies from the baddies. If this fails he asks questions. It's a noughty child indeed who can hide his mischief or shortcomings from Belsnickel.

28 Taken Off Broken Ship By 'Copters

One Stays Aboard To Protect Salvage Rights; Eight Lost

NORFOLK V.a. (AP)—Twenty-eight survivors of the broken American tanker Pine Ridge were scooped to safety off the tossing stern section Thursday by helicopters from the carrier Valley Forge.

A 29th man, Chief Engineer John Richart of Wilmington, Del., asked to be left aboard the still floating afterpart of the ship which was torn apart by raging seas in Wednesday's gales 100 miles off Cape Hatteras, N.C.

He was carrying out a request of the ship owners by remaining aboard to protect the firm's salvage rights.

Eight men were missing and apparently lost. This group including the master, Capt. Clark Snyder of Philadelphia and the first, second and third mates, were in the bow section and were thrown into the water when the bow broke away and capsized.

Hazardous Operation

The number of men aboard the 10,000-ton tanker when it steamed out of New York for Corpus Christi, Tex., was reported variously at 35 to 39. Shipping articles mailed on departure to the owners showed definitely there were 37 aboard, the Coast Guard reported.

The Valley Forge sailed from Florida waters Wednesday in response to word of the Pine Ridge's distress and arrived in position to launch her first helicopter at 6:45 a.m.

One by one a relay of helicopters went through the touchy and hazardous routine—hovering in a fixed position above a weather deck of the tanker's stern and lifting the survivors singly by a dangled sling. The treacherous part, said Lt. (j.g.) John D. Hausman of Monroe, Mich., one of the pilots, was keeping the rising and falling hulk from hitting the copter.

The waves still were running at 10 feet or more for the first of the helicopter pickoffs and the wind was diminishing. The wind was blowing at about 22 knots in midday in contrast to the 50- to 60-mile gusts that raised 30-foot waves Wednesday and barred any immediate rescue attempts.

Empty Life Rafts Picked Up

Criss-cross air and surface searchers of the area failed to show any signs of the missing members of the ship's company. The destroyer Conway picked up two 20-man life rafts dropped early in the search by a Coast Guard plane—but they were empty. A Coast Guard plane spotted another raft, empty and half deflated, along the 30-mile stretch of water between the drifting bow and the main stern section of the tanker.

Only one of the men taken off the broken tanker appeared seriously hurt. He was Everett Bell of Jacksonville, assistant third engineer, who had severe cuts on his right upper arm. But he and several others with lesser hurts were all reported in good condition aboard the Valley Forge.

The Navy planned to transfer the survivors from the carrier to the destroyer Conway for the run into Norfolk. The Conway is expected to arrive at 4 p.m. Friday.

Two Germanys Fail To Reach Trade Pact

BERLIN (AP)—East and West Germany failed Thursday to complete a new trade agreement needed to head off a crisis over Berlin traffic. They postponed further talks until Dec. 28.

The Communists threaten that all agreements on transport to Berlin for both Allies and Germans will cease to be valid if a trade pact is not signed by Jan. 1.

This claim has been denied by the Allies, who insist the West's rights in Berlin cannot be disputed by the East German regime.

The Communists have since softened their ultimatum by saying they were not threatening a blockade, but considerable confusion would result from lack of an agreement.

Ike, Mamie Receive White House Staff

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower received about 1,000 members of the White House staff and employes in the Christmas setting Thursday, serving sweet buns, doughnuts and coffee in the East room.

Meanwhile, Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney, D-Okla., said his Senate Air Safety Committee will open an inquiry into the New York crash and other aspects of air safety on Feb. 1.

A spokesman for the FAA replied with a definite "no" when asked by newsmen Thursday if, as a result of the collision of the United DC8 jet and TWA piston-engine liners, changes would be made in either procedure or personnel in the high density air traffic region of the metropolis.

On the basis of present information, which includes a tape recording of radio conversations among ground control points and the planes, the spokesman said, "We know of nothing now that requires a change." But it was explained that this will depend on what the CAB inquiry, now under way, might develop.

The FAA, however, already has programs for improvement and development of new air traffic control under way. One of these research projects includes perfection of a three-dimensional radar.

Radar now used for civilian air traffic control presents to a traffic controller only a "picture" on a flat plane. To the eyes of the skyward-looking radar all aircraft sighted are on a single level or "floor."

A three-dimensional radar would show the height of individual planes, as well as their two-dimension aspects of location and direction of flight.

Pope Pleads For Truth In Modern Life

Annual Christmas Message Again Has Peace As Theme

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII gave his annual Christmas message to the world Thursday and coupled with it an impassioned plea for truth in modern life.

The 79-year-old supreme ruler of the Roman Catholic Church urged world leaders to "act honorably in these days of general danger."

And he urged all in the mass media of communication — press, radio, TV and movies — to dedicate themselves to truth. The Pope said that it seemed at times as though there were today a "counter-decalogue" to the Ten Commandments.

The pontiff took as the theme of his message - the third at Christmas since his election to St. Peter's throne — from a Biblical quotation by John on Jesus Christ: "We saw his glory, the glory as it were of the only begotten on the Father, full of grace and truth. (John I 14)."

Radio and TV carried the Pope's words and image to many parts of the world. In the next three days, the Vatican radio will broadcast translations in 30 languages.

The message continued the general theme of peace on earth that has marked papal Christmas messages since 1939, when Pope Pius XII began the unbroken series on the eve of World War II with an impassioned plea for peace.

"Dear children," the Pope said, "we are once again drawn to the vision of Bethlehm; to the light of the word incarnate, to His grace and truth, who desires to win all to himself.

"The silence of that holy night and the contemplation of that scene of peace are most eloquent. Let us direct our steps to Bethlehem with innocent eyes and welcoming hearts."

The Pope was shown speaking near a window through which could be seen St. Peter's Square at night — the obelisk and the famed Bernini colonnade lighted. From time to time an automobile—tiny in the distance — could be seen driving through the big square.

Belgian Strike Snowballing

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Armed riot police took up positions around Parliament and government buildings Thursday night as a strike against the government's planned austerity program threatened to paralyze Belgium.

The strike rolls rose to about 100,000 as teachers joined the walkout of miners, dockers, railwaymen and other workers.

In Parliament, President Baron Paul Kronacker suspended a session discussing the new program when opposition Socialist deputies continually made noisy interruptions.

The planned legislation calls for a $200-million cut in state expenditure and a rise of nearly $100 million taxes.

The tax boosts will hit everyone and are the main target of the strikers. But the government says austerity is necessary to help offset losses of revenue from the Congo, which was given its independence this summer.

In Charleroi, largest southern industrial center, the strike was total in the railways, streetcars, buses, big industries, schools, municipal administrations and coal mines. Few post office, cable or telephone employes were working.

In Liege, a big eastern industrial center, gas and electricity companies, coal mines, schools and municipal administrations were strikebound.

50 Persons Drown When Launch Sinks

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Fifty persons were reported drowned Wednesday when a motor launch caught fire and sank in the Persian Gulf. The newspaper Keyham said there were only three survivors picked up by a Japanese ship and landed at Abadan Thursday. They had clung to wreckage for hours.

The motor launch had been bound for Kuwait from Port Dailam.

Rescue Operation

A helicopter from the aircraft carrier Valley Forge hovers over the stern section of the broken tanker Pine Ridge during rescue operations near Cape Hatteras, N. C., yesterday. Twenty-eight survivors were taken off the afterpart of the ship while a 29th man asked to be left aboard to protect salvage rights. Eight men were missing and apparently lost.

Mitchell Heads Railroad Work Rule Study Unit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Outgoing Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell was chosen Thursday to head a precedent-setting commission in industrial relations. It will try to solve a long-standing dispute over what the railroads call make-work practices by its unions.

President Eisenhower named Mitchell to head the 15-man commission on recommendation of both sides—the railroads and five operating brotherhoods, who contend the practices at issue are important to safety.

Eisenhower also appointed four members, beside Mitchell, to represent the public while endorsing five representatives put forward by each of the disputing interests.

All but one of the commission were on hand for a brief meeting after Eisenhower acted. They arranged a formal organizing session for Jan. 6. Their study will take a year.

In announcing creation of the commission, Eisenhower hailed it as a "major and constructive innovation that will prove to be a significant achievement in the progress of labor-management relations toward greater maturity and stability."

Mitchell, who leaves office when the John F. Kennedy administration takes over Jan. 20, told newsmen this is the first time a presidential commission has been set up as the result of a voluntary labor-management agreement.

"A great forward step in industrial relations," he called it.

The commission's recommendations will be advisory only. However, if the railroad management and the unions cannot reach agreement on the basis of these proposals, they still can work through the arbitration machinery of the Railway Labor Board.

At issue are work rules and practices which the railroads call featherbedding. The roads say these practices cost them about $500 million a year.

The unions argue the practices—stationing a fireman on oil-burning diesel locomotives, for example — are in the interests of greater safety.

Ailing Gorillas Receive Oxygen And Affection

NEW YORK (AP) — Dr. Deets Pickett, who slept on a cot with three sick gorillas in his arms, explained Thursday that "they require affection" as well as medicine and oxygen.

The New York Port Authority provided emergency oxygen and child-sized masks for the three the Kansas biologist slept with Wednesday as well as for his two other sick gorillas.

All five had arrived by airplane from Paris, suffering from pneumonia.

Besides oxygen, Dr. Pickett gave the gorillas stimulating injections, intravenous shots of dextrose and antibiotics. He also rubbed their feet.

"And they require affection," he remarked. "When I finally got to sleep at about 5 a.m. there were three in my arms. We slept on a cot."

That put four of the five on the road to recovery.

Dr. Pickett said he planned to take all five by plane to Kansas City, Mo., the sick one in his arms.

Dr. Pickett, who lives at Leawood, Kans., is an animal importer. He brought the gorillas from Africa.

Two Ethiopian Revolt Leaders Captured

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (UPI) —Army troops loyal to Emperor Haile Selassie have captured two of the ringleaders in last week's abortive revolt, one of them in a 90-minute gun battle, a government spokesman announced Thursday.

The spokesman said Gatatchew Bekele, assistant minister of marine affairs, was taken alive in an hour and a half battle that sent troops racing from one end of Addis Ababa to the other. The second ringleader was Capt. Asrat Deferassau of the imperial bodyguard.

The revolt was led by the imperial bodyguard and the spokesman said troops have rounded up 3,100. He reported that 2,000 have been released on bail and another 400 freed unconditionally. He said 475 bodyguards were killed or wounded and another 325 still at large.

La. Legislature Bitterly Assails Federal Courts

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — The Louisiana Legislature Thursday denounced federal courts as "Tyrannical, unreasonable, unsound, illegal" for their decisions in the New Orleans school integration dispute.

The state's lawmakers — still fighting to preserve segregation in the public school system — went home until Jan. 4, but not without first firing some choice words at the federal judiciary.

U.S. district courts in New Orleans have outlawed just about every step taken by the legislature in the battle against integration.

The latest federal edict cited Lt. Gov. C. C. Aycock and two other top state officials for contempt of court for interfering with the operation of New Orleans schools.

The order issued Wednesday ordered Aycock, along with House Speaker Tom Jewell and Education Supt. Shelby Jackson, to show cause Jan. 13 why they should not be held for contempt.

At the two integrated schools in New Orleans, there was little change from the pattern of the last several days. Eight white children and one Negro girl in the first grade went to classes at William Frantz. At McDonogh No. 19 only three Negro girls went to school.

Before legislators closed business at Baton Rouge for the holidays, they went on record condemning the federal courts for attempting "to intimidate officials who have performed their sworn duties."

The lawmakers put off until they return a final vote on a bill backed by Gov. Jimmie H. Davis to hike the state sales tax one cent. The proposal would raise $28 million for grants-in-aid to children who do not want to attend integrated schools and pave the way for private, segregated schools.

School teachers in New Orleans faced a payless Christmas. The legislature has refused to release funds to the city's school board—one the legislature tried to replace with five appointees — and banks are under state order not to do business with the board.

Youngsters In Pa. Dutch Country Await Unjolly Old Belsnickel, Not Santa Claus

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP) — Like everybody else, you doubtless think of Santa Claus as a fellow of infinite mirth, handing out largesse as though there were no tomorrow.

By long and dear tradition, he comes bucketing in on Christmas Eve, stroking his expansive midsection and buckling his knees in sheer delight with the human race and charity for its failings.

Not in many parts of the Pennsylvania country.

Here it is not Santa, but the spirit of Belsnickel, transplated from Middle Europe long ago, that still holds sway in home after home.

It would be easy to dub Belsnickel a killjoy. His very name comes, through a chain of language corruptions, from old German words meaning something of a stinker. So Belsnickel survives in folklore as Santa's sourpuss alter ego.

Belsnickel has many meanings. The gentlest is "St. Nicholas in furs." But Belsnickel being frugal, leaves furs to the big-time spenders and makes do with rough, unprepossessing costumes This forbidding front also keeps the kids in order.

Belsnickel usually wears a false-face or a mask, more of a Halloween gargoyle than anything resembling a Santa facade. He comes with gifts all right, but only candy, nuts and cookies. These he casts on the floor, and when the children scramble for them he exposes a whip or switch, lashing it over their heads.

Model children may gather the gifts without fear of punishment, whereas those who have misbehaved or failed to memorize their catechism are whacked on the hands or across the back. Belsnickel has his own radar system for separting the goodies from the baddies. If this fails he asks questions. It's a noughty child indeed who can hide his mischief or shortcomings from Belsnickel.

28 Taken Off Broken Ship By 'Copters

One Stays Aboard To Protect Salvage Rights; Eight Lost

NORFOLK V.a. (AP)—Twenty-eight survivors of the broken American tanker Pine Ridge were scooped to safety off the tossing stern section Thursday by helicopters from the carrier Valley Forge.

A 29th man, Chief Engineer John Richart of Wilmington, Del., asked to be left aboard the still floating afterpart of the ship which was torn apart by raging seas in Wednesday's gales 100 miles off Cape Hatteras, N.C.

He was carrying out a request of the ship owners by remaining aboard to protect the firm's salvage rights.

Eight men were missing and apparently lost. This group including the master, Capt. Clark Snyder of Philadelphia and the first, second and third mates, were in the bow section and were thrown into the water when the bow broke away and capsized.

Hazardous Operation

The number of men aboard the 10,000-ton tanker when it steamed out of New York for Corpus Christi, Tex., was reported variously at 35 to 39. Shipping articles mailed on departure to the owners showed definitely there were 37 aboard, the Coast Guard reported.

The Valley Forge sailed from Florida waters Wednesday in response to word of the Pine Ridge's distress and arrived in position to launch her first helicopter at 6:45 a.m.

One by one a relay of helicopters went through the touchy and hazardous routine—hovering in a fixed position above a weather deck of the tanker's stern and lifting the survivors singly by a dangled sling. The treacherous part, said Lt. (j.g.) John D. Hausman of Monroe, Mich., one of the pilots, was keeping the rising and falling hulk from hitting the copter.

The waves still were running at 10 feet or more for the first of the helicopter pickoffs and the wind was diminishing. The wind was blowing at about 22 knots in midday in contrast to the 50- to 60-mile gusts that raised 30-foot waves Wednesday and barred any immediate rescue attempts.

Empty Life Rafts Picked Up

Criss-cross air and surface searchers of the area failed to show any signs of the missing members of the ship's company. The destroyer Conway picked up two 20-man life rafts dropped early in the search by a Coast Guard plane—but they were empty. A Coast Guard plane spotted another raft, empty and half deflated, along the 30-mile stretch of water between the drifting bow and the main stern section of the tanker.

Only one of the men taken off the broken tanker appeared seriously hurt. He was Everett Bell of Jacksonville, assistant third engineer, who had severe cuts on his right upper arm. But he and several others with lesser hurts were all reported in good condition aboard the Valley Forge.

The Navy planned to transfer the survivors from the carrier to the destroyer Conway for the run into Norfolk. The Conway is expected to arrive at 4 p.m. Friday.

Two Germanys Fail To Reach Trade Pact

BERLIN (AP)—East and West Germany failed Thursday to complete a new trade agreement needed to head off a crisis over Berlin traffic. They postponed further talks until Dec. 28.

The Communists threaten that all agreements on transport to Berlin for both Allies and Germans will cease to be valid if a trade pact is not signed by Jan. 1.

This claim has been denied by the Allies, who insist the West's rights in Berlin cannot be disputed by the East German regime.

The Communists have since softened their ultimatum by saying they were not threatening a blockade, but considerable confusion would result from lack of an agreement.

B&O Exchange 'Dividend' Offer Made By C&O

CLEVELAND (AP) — Directors of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway Co. Thursday offered to take additional shares of Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Co. stock in exchange for C&O stock.

The directors at the same time said C&O will pay "dividends" to B&O shareowners accepting the exchange offer.

C&O says some 55 per cent of the B&O stock already has been tendered for exchange. The board voted to make the exchange binding if at the end of a 30-day period beginning Jan. 3 C&O still has more than 50 per cent of B&O shares. B&O shareholders have the option of withdrawing their stock from the exchange offer in this period.

Additional shares may be tendered during this period.

Beginning Jan. 1, the C&O said, it will begin accruing the difference between B&O's rate of dividend and C&O's rate of dividend, based on the exchange ratio.

C&O's current dividend on common stock is $4 a year. B&O Wednesday cut its 1961 dividend to 60 cents, from $1.50 a share.

At the exchange ratio of one share of C&O common to 1.75 shares of B&O common, the C&O dividend is equal to $2.29 a B&O shares.

The "dividend" will be paid to B&O shareowners when the stock actually is exchanged. Since the Interstate Commerce Commission must approve the transaction, it could be quite some time before any exchange takes place.

The New York Central System, which also seeks to merge with B&O, said it will fight the C&O application before the ICC and will take the matter to the courts if necessary. In a statement, an NYC spokesman charged that control of the B&O by Chesapeake would be detrimental to the public interest, to Central and to the B&O.

Virginia Warren Wed To John Daly

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —Virginia Warren, blonde daughter of U. S. Chief Justice Earl Warren, and television newsman and panel moderator John Daly were married Thursday in a candle-lighted church ceremony.

The pretty 32-year-old bride was given in marriage by her father, former governor of California, at rites attended by some 200 friends and members of the family.

It was her first marriage and the second for Daly, 46, who conducts the "What's My Line?" program on television and recently resigned as head of the American Broadcasting Co.'s news department.

They met in 1948 when Daly was covering the presidential campaign. Warren was the Republican candidate for vice president when former New York Gov. Thomas E. Dewey was running for president.

New Jersey's first conservation law was enacted in 1675. It provided a bounty for killing predatory wolves.

Two B&O Trains Derailed In Md.

ROCKVILLE, Md. (AP) — Two Baltimore & Ohio Railroad freight trains derailed in Montgomery County within five hours Thursday. No one was injured.

The first derailment occurred about 7:30 a.m. one mile west of Boyds in the upper part of the county. Thirty cars of an 86-car train jumped the tracks.

The second took place about 12:25 p.m., just west of the Rockville station at the Westmore crossing. This one involved four diesel locomotive units and 20 freight cars.

Both derailments involved westbound trains. The train at Rockville had been halted further to the north by the other derailment and was being backed into Washington to be detoured over another route.

The Boyds derailment disrupted through train traffic between Washington and the west along both B&O main line tracks.

It also caused the Charles Town, W.Va., race course to delay the start of its daily program by 15 minutes.

Cause of the two derailments was not determined immediately.

'Marriage Mill' Case Figures Win Round

EASTON, Md. (AP) — Verdicts of innocent were handed down Thursday on a taxi driver and a physician, both of Elkton, Md., who had been charged with conspiracy in the Elkton "marriage mill" case.

Directed verdicts of innocent were filed in Talbot County Circuit Court for Dr. Jacob J Greenwald, 63, and cab driver Garrett Steele. Greenwald currently is serving a three-year term in Maryland Penitentiary for committing perjury in issuing false certificates of pregnancy.

Steele and Greenwald had been charged in the latest case with conspiring to bring a Long Island woman to the doctor's office to be issued a false pregnancy certificate. Judges J. De Weese Carter and Thomas Keating ruled that there was no evidence of such conspiracy.

The Elkton trials resulted from the fact that under-age women with pregnancy certificates may marry in Maryland without parents' consent. Greenwald was convicted of fraudulently issuing the necessary certificates.

One Way To Keep Snow Off Glasses

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Donald Andrus, 17, is a person of vision. He walked to school through Wednesday's snowstorm, with electrically driven wipers clearing snow from his glasses.

The device, powered by a small flashlight battery, clips to the frame of the spectacles. The motor is controlled by a switch attached to the shirt collar.

Donald says he knows his idea is not new. But, he says, "It works. And in the heavy snowfall I could see where I was going."

Two Escapees Mav Owe Lives To Md. Trooper

HAGERSTOWN (AP) — Two prisoners at the State Reformatory for Males may owe their lives to a state trooper who saw footprints in a snowbank where he didn't think they should be.

Trooper K. O. McAllister was checking early Thursday on a car found abandoned about eight miles east of Hagerstown on U.S. 40. Learning it was left by a motorist who couldn't get into his garage, McAllister headed back for town.

Noticing two sets of footprints running over a bank toward a barn, the trooper traced them to an 18-inch opening in a silo. He remembered two men had escaped from the reformatory Wednesday so he radioed for help and he and Trooper Robert Spickler went inside the silo.

Buried under three feet of ensilage and freezing from the cold were Mack D. Luttrell, 18, of Baltimore, and Roy C. Cox, 17, of Parkville, Md. The prison said the fugitives were in bad shape when brought in but apparently would suffer no ill effects from the cold.

Six Lanterns, Blocker Missing

Six lanterns and one road blocker are missing from areas which had been designated for sled-riding and the Recreation Department appealed for their return.

Streets on which sledding was designated were marked by the lanterns as a caution to motorists, C. Eugene Mason, recreation director, said in noting the following missing items:

Sylvan Avenue—One road block and one lantern.

Beall Street—One lantern.

Kent Avenue—One lantern missing.

Thyme, popular seasoning of today, was used as incense for their temples by the ancient Greeks.

GETS PE POST—C. Robert Meyer, former commercial representative of the Potomac Edison Company here, has been named assistant supervisor of lighting for the PE system with headquarters in Hagerstown.

VFW Christmas Party Tomorrow

A Christmas party for underprivileged children, an annual project of Henry Hart Post 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will be held Saturday at the Post home on Union Street.

Guy Smith, chairman, said that dinner will be held at noon, but that children attending are asked to be present at 11:45 a. m.

Approximately 200 children will attend through the efforts of Associated Charities, Allegany County League for Crippled Children, and the Salvation Army.

Following the dinner, Smith said, Santa Claus will visit the children and distribute gifts.

Airline Asks Permit For Helicopters

Allegheny Airlines, which does not want to continue service to Cumberland and has not served this city since February, 1959, has applied for a permit to provide helicopter service in the Washington-Baltimore area, The Associated Press reports.

The firm, in action before the Civil Aeronautics Board, seeks to fly the rotary-wing craft between downtown Washington, Washington National Airport, Friendship International Airport in Baltimore and the new Dulles International Airport at Chantilly, Va.

Allegheny Airlines now operates conventional aircraft on short-haul routes in 12 eastern states.

The CAB earlier this year ordered a study of the need for helicopter service here and in nearby Baltimore after it had received applications from eight companies.

Those concerns include New York Airways, Chesapeake and Potomac Airways, District of Columbia Transit System, Baltimore and Annapolis Railroad and Pilgrim Helicopter Services, Inc.

New York Airways is one of three scheduled helicopter operators in the country. C & P Airways is based at Friendship Airport.

Leslie O. Barnes, president of the airlines, said the helicopter service proposed by Allegheny "logically brings the traveling public one step closer to an eventual downtown to downtown service between many principal East Coast centers."

The Articles of Confederation, though adopted by the Continental Congress in 1778, were not ratified by all the states until March 1, 1781, Maryland being the last to assent.

ty planning group should either support or recommend changes in the enabling act which is to be introduced on a state-wide basis during the next session of the General Assembly.

The various aspects of a regional planning area were discussed at the meeting. Mr. Winer gave detailed reports to the members and asked that comments be made in the near future. Also present at the meeting was Ralph Race, member of the planning group which will meet again January 26.

Men Violate Parole Terms

Two local brothers yesterday were given six-month terms in the House of Correction after they were found guilty of violation of parole.

John T. Layman and Robert F. Layman were tried yesterday afternoon in Trial Magistrate Court by Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt, who had imposed the jail sentences on the two men in September.

At that time the brothers were found guilty of being drunk and disorderly, but Magistrate Weatherholt suspended the jail terms on condition the two men stay out of the city for a period of one year.

Earlier this month the brothers were arrested by City Police on drunk and disorderly charges and were sentenced to 30 days in the County Jail by Magistrate Paul W. Barnett at a hearing in City Police Court.

The two men are being held in the County Jail awaiting transfer to the House of Correction.

Derailment Delays Passenger Trains

B & O passenger trains from the east were arriving here about three hours late last night.

The delays were caused by rerouting traffic after two freight trains derailed yesterday morning in Montgomery County.

There was no estimate here early last night as to when westbound trains would be back on schedule. Eastbound traffic was not affected here.

show that if there is to be a second night opening, city merchants must open many months in advance of the opening of the shopping center.

It said the center is expected to open in the fall of 1961 and that a decision must be made now so customers will become accustomed to shopping in the downtown area on the nights stores are to remain open.

There are many more arguments for and against a second shopping night, the association said, and all will be discussed at the meeting.

Resolutions have been prepared and votes will be taken on them by secret ballot at the meeting.

The 12 resolutions offer the possibilities of remaining open from 5 to 9 p. m. on an additional week day, opening Thursday, Friday or Saturday from 5 to 9 p. m., for delaying store openings until noon on Monday, Thursday and Friday, for leaving the opening hours to the discretion of each business, for waiting until noon to open on Mondays and the day when stores will be open in the evening and for all downtown businesses to be open five days a week and three nights a week.

A final resolution calls for any resolutions passed to be effective for a year from March 1, 1961.

Columbia Gas To Begin Service On January 1

Natural gas service to Allegany and Garrett county customers will be furnished by Columbia Gas of Maryland, Inc., starting January 1.

Columbia Gas takes over the function of Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Co. in Maryland as part of a long-range program by Columbia Gas System to simplify its operations throughout its seven-state area.

Personnel of Columbia Gas of Maryland will be the same gas company people who worked to maintain C. & A. service to Maryland customers, vice president G. E. Wilson said.

Columbia Gas will adopt the present Maryland rates and charges of C. & A., the official said.

Columbia Gas will sell gas only at retail to residential, commercial and industrial customers in Garrett and Allegany counties C. & A., however, will continue to serve its West Virginia customers, produce gas and maintain its gas transportation—supply—system.

Gas used by Maryland customers will be purchased by Columbia Gas at wholesale rates from C. & A.

Under the Columbia System realignment program, one retail company will operate in each state. Today, in some states two or more companies do business as a retail gas utility, but also produce gas, store it and operate gas transportation systems. Ultimately, production, storage and transmission operations will be performed by one large wholesale pipeline company in the system, selling gas to each retail utility.

Columbia Gas To Begin Service On January 1

Natural gas service to Allegany and Garrett county customers will be furnished by Columbia Gas of Maryland, Inc., starting January 1.

Columbia Gas takes over the function of Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Co. in Maryland as part of a long-range program by Columbia Gas System to simplify its operations throughout its seven-state area.

Personnel of Columbia Gas of Maryland will be the same gas company people who worked to maintain C. & A. service to Maryland customers, vice president G. E. Wilson said.

Columbia Gas will adopt the present Maryland rates and charges of C. & A., the official said.

Columbia Gas will sell gas only at retail to residential, commercial and industrial customers in Garrett and Allegany counties to serve its West Virginia customers, produce gas and maintain its gas transportation—supply—transportation—system.

Gas used by Maryland customers will be purchased by Columbia Gas at wholesale rates from C. & A.

Under the Columbia System realignment program, one retail company will operate in each state. Today, in some states two or more companies do business as a retail gas utility, but also produce gas, store it and operate gas transportation systems. Ultimately, production, storage and transmission operations will be performed by one large wholesale pipeline company in the system, selling gas to each retail utility.

YMCA Closed Monday

The Cumberland Central YMCA will be closed Monday.

In A Yule Party Dress You're An Ornament, Too

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Newsfeatures Writer

What are you going to do for the holidays? You will shine, gleam, glisten, twinkle, flash, sparkle and glow.

You'll be gayer than a Christmas tree, brighter than a candle, more festive than a fiesta.

Whether you are 6, 16, or plus a little, you'll be Yule dressed. Whether friends drop in or you go gadding, you've got to be a bit giddy and gaudy else nobody will find you in the holiday glare.

This is good fashion reasoning during this, the glittering party season. When everybody you know has decked the halls with holly and sprinkled the homesteads with tinsel and stars, what can you do in self defense but dress to fit the frivolous settings?

Fortunately, the fashion industry is on your side. Whatever your budget limitation, whatever your age, or whatever shape you're in figuratively, there is a dress to make you the prettiest ornament around.

Fabrics are heavy brocades sprinkled with glitter or smoothly molded satins, or saucy rustling taffetas, or cloud-like chiffons. Rich velvets, even once mundane corduroys, are mustered into holiday fashion service.

Patterns and prints run the gamut from roman stripes to wild florals. However there are solid hues, too, some in muted colors. But for the most part uninhibited bright ones are the rule.

Design-wise, for the party wise, anything goes. You can choose from easy sheath silhouettes (knee-length or to the floor) or skirt puffs that start from waist, hipline, or even the knee. There are billowing harem sleeves, glove-tight long ones, or none at all. And with these sometimes come flowing colorful stoles, tiny, crisp jackets, or billowing great coats.

Little ladies are copycats, too. Children will not only be heard (because of their many rustling petticoats), they most certainly will be seen in their bright garb. In party fashions for the young, velvets with dainty lace collars, are still classic favorites. But with these come some new combinations of fabric, such as wool jersey tops and bouffant dotted swiss skirts.

For the sake of practical-minded mothers and delighted daughters Rainbow cottons, sprinkled with bright bows and buttons dressy but washable.

The important thing for any girl or woman is to be bright and titilating. 'Tis the season.

Hostesses for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. James Conrad, Mr. and Mrs. Don Evans and Mr. and Mrs. Holland.

Avoid Backaches With A Good Brassiere

Do you ever skip wearing a brassiere when you're alone at home? You're not the only one. Many women admit that privately they doff their bras . . . even though they wouldn't dream of going through a day of housework without wearing a girdle.

Why? Why would a woman who considers a girdle important be less enthusiastic about her brassiere? The answer is as obvious as the size and shape of her hips. She spends more time and, frankly, more money on a girdle that fits and supports her well. Apart from figure control, she relies on her girdle to prevent fatigue and backache.

She probably doesn't realize how much more fatigue and muscular pain could be relieved if she wore a properly-fitted brassiere regularly — even for calisthenics and swimming.

Usually (but not always) it is the small-breasted woman who foregoes her bra . . . except for dress-up occasions that inspire her into a conspiracy with wiring and padding. That's the only time a bra "does something for NOTHING" — since "nothing" is her own estimation of her small measurements. Why should an everyday bra be necessary when there is "nothing" to support, she will counter — especially when her bra is just a cutting, chafing source of discomfort as well as a strap-slipping, rib-digging nuisance?

She couldn't be more wrong. Small or large, the breasts need support at all times. Even girls in their teens mustn't skip wearing brassieres. A good bra does for the upper part of the body what the girdle does below the waist. It gives the gentle but firm support and guidance that maintains muscular tone and position. Wearing both, a woman is comfortably reminded to keep her posture perfect . . . and that alone prevents fatigue.

Did I say "comfortably" reminded? Bras CAN be comfortable. In fact, they MUST. If yours are not, throw them away. They are badly fitted. Out of the countless styles and types designed today, there is definitely one that will suit and support you so well that all your excuses for skipping will vanish.

To find it, shop around. Don't just buy off counters; try on each style, to be sure. Check the fit against the advice in my booklet, "Figured For You." You may send for a copy by writing me, JRP, c/o this newspaper, enclosing 10c and a stamped self-addressed envelope.

It's high time women accorded the brassiere the respect it deserves as a garment, above and beyond its usefulness as a "cosmetic device." The limelight focused on LOOKS for the upper proportion of the female figure is completely out of proportion to the attention paid to the purpose and care of the breasts.

Why should there be a conflict? With the right bra, a woman can both feel better and look better, all day and every day, whatever her size.

Knights Templar Sets Meeting

Antioch Commandery 6, Knights Templar, will hold its Christmas service at 11 a. m. Sunday in the Masonic Temple.

The service, which is open to the public, is being prepared under the direction of past commanders Henry M. Earle, Roy V. Ringler, James C. Watkins and Sir Knights Robert E. Stallings and Foster F. Schilt.

The message will be given by Rev. Louis P. Chastain, minister of visitation Center Street Methodist Church. He will also deliver the invocation and benediction.

The welcoming address will be given by Commander Joseph Davis. Captain General Roy V. Ringler will read General Order 1 from Sir Knight Edward Thatcher Sr., right eminent grand commander of the grand commandery of Maryland, which calls all constituent commanderies to assemble on Christmas Day.

St. Peter's church, in Zurich, Switzerland, has the largest clock dial in Europe.

The three golden balls used as a pawnbroker's sign were derived in early times from the arms of the Lombards, the merchant princes of Italy.

The band on a man's hat is a relic of the days when a knight would tie his lady's scarf around his helmet.

Opening lead: King of ♣

Declarer marred an otherwise flawless performance in today's hand when he found himself in the wrong hand at the critical moment.

Six spades was reached with accuracy. North raised South's one spade response to two spades on the second round and after South showed the ace of clubs, North jumped to game. Thus assured of the solidity of the trump suit, South proceeded to slam.

West opened the king of clubs which went to declarer's ace. South decided to play for a cross-ruff, for he could count four side tricks and eight trump tricks, which could be made separately by trumping diamonds and clubs.

He immediately ruffed a club in dummy. He then played the ace of diamonds and ruffed a diamond in his own hand.

It became apparent to him that, as he crisscrossed in diamonds and clubs, one of the defenders might show out and discard a heart. Accordingly he cashed the ace and kings of hearts and then ruffed a club in dummy, a diamond in his own and, the last club in the dummy, and another diamond in his hand.

At this point, with 10 tricks played, he had one trump left in each hand. South still retained two little hearts, and North had the queen of diamonds and the seven of hearts.

If at this stage, the lead were in the dummy, declarer could score a 12th trick merely by leading the diamond and ruffing. Unfortunately, the lead was in his own hand, and he was forced to play a heart. This was won by West who returned a spade, bumping both declarer's and dummy's trumps.

Proper timing would have brought home the contract. If he had started ruffing diamonds earlier he could have gotten in all eight ruffs. After winning the opening lead, declarer cashes the two top hearts, leads a diamond to the ace and ruffs a diamond. Now he can make all eight trumps without having to give up the lead.

Opening lead: King of ♣

Declarer marred an otherwise flawless performance in today's hand when he found himself in the wrong hand at the critical moment.

Six spades was reached with accuracy. North raised South's one spade response to two spades on the second round and after South showed the ace of clubs, North jumped to game. Thus assured of the solidity of the trump suit, South proceeded to slam.

West opened the king of clubs which went to declarer's ace. South decided to play for a cross-ruff, for he could count four side tricks and eight trump tricks, which could be made separately by trumping diamonds and clubs.

He immediately ruffed a club in dummy. He then played the ace of diamonds and ruffed a diamond in his own hand.

It became apparent to him that, as he crisscrossed in diamonds and clubs, one of the defenders might show out and discard a heart. Accordingly he cashed the ace and kings of hearts and then ruffed a club in dummy, a diamond in his own and, the last club in the dummy, and another diamond in his hand.

At this point, with 10 tricks played, he had one trump left in each hand. South still retained two little hearts, and North had the queen of diamonds and the seven of hearts.

If at this stage, the lead were in the dummy, declarer could score a 12th trick merely by leading the diamond and ruffing. Unfortunately, the lead was in his own hand, and he was forced to play a heart. This was won by West who returned a spade, bumping both declarer's and dummy's trumps.

Proper timing would have brought home the contract. If he had started ruffing diamonds earlier he could have gotten in all eight ruffs. After winning the opening lead, declarer cashes the two top hearts, leads a diamond to the ace and ruffs a diamond. Now he can make all eight trumps without having to give up the lead.

Rev. H. W. Nommensen, pastor, said each presentation will last about 35 minutes with a brief intermission.

The pageant is presented by narration and carols sung by the choir on recordings. Members of the Walther League will enact all roles.

Members of the cast will be Mary Linda Clites, James Hunter, Nancy Knippenberg, James Kiifner, Richard Keller, Anne Crowe, Barbara Knippenberg, Rosalie Welty and Charles Warnick. Sugared Corn Flakes Make New Version Of Apple Pie

In food preparation, just as in music, variations can produce results that are unlike the original yet equally if not more pleasant. Often, a few simple changes will make the difference between an ordinary dish and a masterpiece in cooking.

With French Apple Pie, a topping of sugared corn flakes is the secret of the transformation. The crisp sweetened flakes give an unusual contrast in both texture and flavor, making it a delightfully new version of America's most popular dessert.

FRENCH APPLE PIE

- 5 cups thinly sliced apples
- 1 unbaked 9-inch pie shell
- ¾ cup sugar
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 4 cups sugared corn flakes

Arrange apples in pie shell. Combine sugar and cinnamon; sprinkle over apples. Dot with butter. Crush sugar corn flakes slightly; sprinkle over pie pressing lightly over apples. Cover with aluminum foil. Bake on lower rack in hot oven (425° F.) about 50 minutes, or until apples are tender. Uncover and bake about 5 minutes longer or until sugar frosted flakes are lightly browned.

Yield: 1 9-inch pie

Creamy Eggnog

- 2 eggs, beaten
- 2 cups milk
- ¼ teaspoon vanilla
- 1 jar marshmallow creme

Combine eggs, milk and vanilla. Gradually add to marshmallow creme, beating until well blended. Chill. 4 Servings.

Root Beer Dandy

- 1 jar marshmallow creme
- 2½ cups milk
- cup root beer

Combine marshmallow creme and a small amount of milk. Add root beer and remaining milk, beating until well blended. Chill. 4 Servings.

MEAT COOKERY Quiz

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?

A. Pork Blade Steak.

Q. Where does it come from and how it is identified?

A. It comes from the upper half of the shoulder or the Boston butt and contains a portion of the blade bone.

Q. How it is prepared?

A. Usually it is braised but may also be panfried. To braise: the steak is browned on both sides in its own or a small amount of fat, the drippings are poured off, the meat is covered and cooked slowly until well done, about 45 minutes for steaks cut ¾ to 1 inch thick. To panfry: the steak is browned on both sides in a small amount of fat, then cooked slowly, turning occasionally, until cooked well done. This will require 35 to 45 minutes for steaks cut ¾ to 1 inch thick.

Herb French Toast With Creamed Chipped Beef

Your brunch hostess with a flair for surprises serves herb French toast with creamed chipped beef. Her method is simple: Season a French toast egg-milk mixture with caraway seeds, rosemary, and salt. Dip French bread strips (3 of equal size cut from each 1-inch bread slice) into the mixture and brown on both sides in a hot, well-greased skillet. Top with creamed chipped beef. (may be made the night before and reheated) and serve immediately.

Pineapple Upside-Down French Toast

Sweet start to Sunday luxury living, inspired by aloha-land-that's Pineapple Upside-Down French Toast. Translated from hula talk, here's how to make it: In a 9-inch square baking dish, melt 2 tablespoons butter and blend in ¼ cup, each, of brown sugar and crushed pineapple (drained). Spread evenly over bottom of dish and sprinkle with 1 tablespoon pineapple sirup. On top of mixture, place 4 slices of raisin bread, coated with an egg-milk French toast dip. Bake in a hot over (400°F.) until lightly browned on top, about 25 minutes. Let stand 1 minute after removing from oven. Then invert dish over platter to remove French toast, sugared side up.

Apricot-Honey French Toast

Rival the rising sun with Apricot-Honey French Toast — colorfully arranged sunburst fashion on a platter. Prepare a French toast dip from beaten eggs, substituting apricot nectar, sweetened with honey, for the usual measure of milk. Dip enriched bread slices into the nectar-egg mixture; brown in hot fat on both sides. To serve: Top toast with honey, cut into triangles, and arrange on a platter in a sunburst design.

A Mandate For Magnesium

Scientists are talking about the role of magnesium in nutrition. Like calcium, magnesium accounts for the hardness in you—your body skeleton. In soft tissues, magnesium activates enzymes to act in releasing energy from the foods we eat. Magnesium was a boon to patients who were confused and had twitching muscles. When the mineral element was added to their diets, the patients were soon restored to normal.

Fortunately, a severe deficiency of this kind is unlikely, particularly when one includes a good supply of magnesium-rich foods — beans, peas, nuts, whole grain bread and cereals—in daily meals.

Miniature Fruit Cakes Need Moisture

Let miniature fruit cakes answer your holiday baking plans if you find the larger ones are just too much for your family. This way you can have the traditional homemade cake at Christmastime but not necessarily for weeks and months following.

Actually, the miniatures can be every bit as tasteful and handsomely decorated as the larger cakes. You may notice, however, that the batter needs a little more liquid than usual to prevent drying out.

Here's a recipe for Yuletide fruit cupcakes in which dairy egg nog is used to supply extra moistness and flavor. The heavily fruited cakes are tender, with a pleasing nut crunchiness everyone will like.

The batter is baked in two and one-half inch paper cup lined muffin pans. When cool, the little cakes are glazed and trimmed with pieces of fruit and nuts. You'll find these are just about the right size to provide a couple of crunchy bites. Since they do not need aging to develop mellow fruit flavor, you may bake the little fruit cupcakes just a few days before serving.

Yuletide Fruit Cupcakes

(24 cakes)

¾ pound candied mixed fruits
1 cup coarsely broken walnuts
2 cups sifted all purpose flour
½ teaspoon nutmeg
¾ cup butter
1 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
3 egg yolks, beaten
1 cup egg nog
2 teaspoons rum flavoring
3 egg whites
½ teaspoon cream of tartar

Glaze:

¼ cup white corn sirup
2 tablespoons water
1 tablespoon pineapple juice

Combine mixed fruits and walnuts. Sift together flour and nutmeg. Then mix ¼ cup flour with fruit mixture. Cream butter and sugar until light and fluffy. Add egg yolks; beat until well mixed. Combine egg nog and rum flavoring. Add alternately with remaining flour to creamed mixture. Fold in fruit mixture; mix well. Beat egg whites until frothy; add cream of tartar. Beat until egg whites stand in stiff peaks. Fold into batter. Place 2½ inch paper baking cups in muffin pans. Fill ¾ full with batter. Bake at 300 degrees for 50-55 minutes. Cool. Brush glaze lightly over cakes. Decorate with candied fruit and toasted whole almonds.

To make glaze, combine corn sirup, water and pineapple juice. Bring to a boil and boil 1 minute.

Party Cake Is Made From A Mix

A special occasion deserves a cake. And a cake, delicious and pretty enough for the most important guests can be made from a mix. Here is a delightful cake that starts with a package of butterscotch cake mix. Nuts are added to the batter, and a maple flavored frosting covers the cake.

Butterscotch Party Cake

1 package butterscotch cake mix
1¼ cups water
2 eggs, unbeaten
¼ teaspoon salt
¾ cup very finely chopped nuts
Maple Syrup Frosting

Empty cake mix into bowl. Add water, eggs, and salt. Beat 3 minutes until smooth and creamy. Mix in nuts.

Pour batter into two round 8-inch layer pans, which have been greased and floured on bottoms and sides. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) 40 to 45 minutes. Frost with Maple Syrup Frosting. Decorate with sliced bananas, if desired.

Maple Syrup Frosting

1 egg white, unbeaten
¾ cup maple syrup
Dash of salt
½ teaspoon vanilla

Combine egg white, maple syrup and salt in top of double boiler. Beat about 1 minute, or until thoroughly mixed. Then place over boiling water and beat constantly with sturdy egg beater (or at high speed of electric beater) 4 minutes or until frosting will stand in stiff peaks. (Stir frosting up from bottom and sides of pan occasionally with rubber scraper, spatula, or spoon.)

Remove from boiling water. For a very smooth and satiny frosting pour at once into a large bowl. Then add vanilla and beat 1 minute, or until thick enough to spread.

Apple Butter Toast

"Little things mean a lot," in the making of Apple Butter French Toast. Only 2 tablespoons of apple butter, when combined with 2 beaten eggs as a dip for enriched bread, create a new breakfast treat. Whisk 6 bread slices through the mixture and bake in a hot, well-greased waffle baker until nicely browned. Serve immediately, with or without a favorite topping.

Baked Egg-Tomato Cup

In the morning, nothin' could be finer than baked egg-tomato cups. For each sunny serving, brush one side of an enriched bread slice (crusts removed) with melted butter. Spread the second side with catsup. Form a bread cup by gently pressing the slice, buttered side down, into a large custard cup. Break an egg into the cup center and bake in a moderate oven (375°F.) for about 15 to 20 minutes.

Fresh Pears 'Belong' With The Holidays

Merry eating time is here and the chop-chop-chop of the French knife, the whir-r-r of the beater is heard throughout the land. Whether writing greetings to friends or trying the last package in the perfect seclusion of the hall closet, this refreshingly suitable salad will make the chores of Christmas cheerier.

Slender sweet slices of Anjou, Bosc or Comice pear surround a creamy mixture of pineapple, pimiento and cottage cheese smoothly molded together with lemon gelatin. Serve with a steaming pot of coffee or tea and a favorite bread.

A fresh pear salad is timely during the holiday season for it is then that ripe pears are at their eating best, one of the few sweet fruits that are available in the winter months. You'll find Bosc, with tapered neck and russte skin; graceful Anjou with a green skin that's apt to mislead you into believing that it's far from ripe; and Comice, so juicy, mellow and fragrant that it is valued as an integral part of the holiday season.

Pears are one of the few exceptions to the rule that tree-ripened fruit is best. Pears are picked when mature in size, kept in cold storage for a few weeks and then ripened to perfection.

You'll usually find fresh Western pears ripe and ready to eat at your favorite market. Ripe pears yield to gentle pressure regardless of color.

You can always buy firm pears with confidence — they'll ripen at home in a few days at room temperature, becoming sweet and juicy, the way you like them.

Merry Pear Salads

8 Anjou, Bosc or Comice pears
8 maraschino cherries

Mold:

1 can (8 oz.) crushed pineapple
1 can (4 oz.) pimiento
1 package (3 oz.) lemon gelatin
1 cup cream, whipped
1 carton (1 lb.) cottage cheese

Combine pineapple and finely chopped, drained pimiento. Bring to a boil. Remove from heat; add gelatin and stir until dissolved. Cool. When gelatin begins to set, fold in whipped cream and lightly whipped cottage cheese. Pour into 1 large or 8 individual molds; chill until set.

To serve, unmold salad or lettuce-lined platter or individual salad plates. Cut pears into sections; brush with lemon juice and arrange around molds. Garnish with cherries cut into segments to resemble flower petals; center with a bit of pear. Makes 8 servings.

Chocolate-Cinnamon Toast

Timed for a teen's quick breakfast is chocolate-cinnamon toast. Top hot toast slices with a spread made from equal parts softened butter and instant cocoa mix, blended with a little milk and spiked with cinnamon.

Jiffy Malt

1 jar marshmallow creme
3½ cups milk
¼ cup instant chocolate flavored malted milk

Combine marshmallow creme and a small amount of milk. Add malted milk and remaining milk, beating until well blended. Chill. 4 Servings.

The Rigors Of Winter

Researchers have shown that, in cool seasons, young women save on vitamin C. One way to be sure of an adequate supply of the vitamin—regardless of season—is to keep its daily intake steady through the use of a variety of fruits and vegetables.

Cheese, Fruit Mold Easy Main Dish

Convenience and ease of service make molded salads popular with homemakers. Here's a particularly pretty one, suited to year around serving — a layered Green and Gold Salad Mold of cheese and fruit that will compliment many menus.

The generous amount of high protein cottage cheese molded into the golden bottom layer of this salad makes it suitable as a light main dish. Flavor and color contrast are added in the top layer of grapefruit sections molded in lime gelatin. Garnish the mold with extra fruit and accompany with finger sandwiches as a luncheon headliner. Or serve this mold as the salad for a buffet dinner.

Green And Gold Salad Mold

1 grapefruit
2 cups liquid (grapefruit juice, plus water to make 2 cups)
1 package lime gelatin
½ cup orange juice
1 package orange gelatin
3 cups creamed cottage cheese

Section grapefruit and save juice. Heat 1 cup liquid to boiling, add lime gelatin and stir until dissolved. Add remaining cup of liquid and cool until gelatin mixture begins to set. Fold in grapefruit sections and pour into 1½ quart ring mold. Refrigerate until firmly set. Heat orange juice to boiling, add orange gelatin and stir until dissolved. Fold in cottage cheese and pour into mold on top of lime gelatin. Chill until set. To serve, unmold and garnish with fresh fruit. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

Chopped prunes tossed into eggs before scrambling are a hearty and delicious addition to this ever popular breakfast dish. Easy, too. With kitchen scissors you just snip the prune pieces from around the pits.

Fresh Pears 'Belong' With The Holidays

Merry eating time is here and the chop-chop-chop of the French knife, the whir-r-r of the beater is heard throughout the land. Whether writing greetings to friends or trying the last package in the perfect seclusion of the hall closet, this refreshingly suitable salad will make the chores of Christmas cheerier.

Slender sweet slices of Anjou, Bosc or Comice pear surround a creamy mixture of pineapple, pimiento and cottage cheese smoothly molded together with lemon gelatin. Serve with a steaming pot of coffee or tea and a favorite bread.

A fresh pear salad is timely during the holiday season for it is then that ripe pears are at their eating best, one of the few sweet fruits that are available in the winter months. You'll find Bosc, with tapered neck and russte skin; graceful Anjou with a green skin that's apt to mislead you into believing that it's far from ripe; and Comice, so juicy, mellow and fragrant that it is valued as an integral part of the holiday season.

Pears are one of the few exceptions to the rule that tree-ripened fruit is best. Pears are picked when mature in size, kept in cold storage for a few weeks and then ripened to perfection.

You'll usually find fresh Western pears ripe and ready to eat at your favorite market. Ripe pears yield to gentle pressure regardless of color.

You can always buy firm pears with confidence — they'll ripen at home in a few days at room temperature, becoming sweet and juicy, the way you like them.

Merry Pear Salads

8 Anjou, Bosc or Comice pears
8 maraschino cherries

Mold:

1 can (8 oz.) crushed pineapple
1 can (4 oz.) pimiento
1 package (3 oz.) lemon gelatin
1 cup cream, whipped
1 carton (1 lb.) cottage cheese

Combine pineapple and finely chopped, drained pimiento. Bring to a boil. Remove from heat; add gelatin and stir until dissolved. Cool. When gelatin begins to set, fold in whipped cream and lightly whipped cottage cheese. Pour into 1 large or 8 individual molds; chill until set.

To serve, unmold salad or lettuce-lined platter or individual salad plates. Cut pears into sections; brush with lemon juice and arrange around molds. Garnish with cherries cut into segments to resemble flower petals; center with a bit of pear. Makes 8 servings.

Chocolate-Cinnamon Toast

Timed for a teen's quick breakfast is chocolate-cinnamon toast. Top hot toast slices with a spread made from equal parts softened butter and instant cocoa mix, blended with a little milk and spiked with cinnamon.

Jiffy Malt

1 jar marshmallow creme
3½ cups milk
¼ cup instant chocolate flavored malted milk

Combine marshmallow creme and a small amount of milk. Add malted milk and remaining milk, beating until well blended. Chill. 4 Servings.

The Rigors Of Winter

Researchers have shown that, in cool seasons, young women save on vitamin C. One way to be sure of an adequate supply of the vitamin—regardless of season—is to keep its daily intake steady through the use of a variety of fruits and vegetables.

Cheese, Fruit Mold Easy Main Dish

Convenience and ease of service make molded salads popular with homemakers. Here's a particularly pretty one, suited to year around serving — a layered Green and Gold Salad Mold of cheese and fruit that will compliment many menus.

The generous amount of high protein cottage cheese molded into the golden bottom layer of this salad makes it suitable as a light main dish. Flavor and color contrast are added in the top layer of grapefruit sections molded in lime gelatin. Garnish the mold with extra fruit and accompany with finger sandwiches as a luncheon headliner. Or serve this mold as the salad for a buffet dinner.

Green And Gold Salad Mold

1 grapefruit
2 cups liquid (grapefruit juice, plus water to make 2 cups)
1 package lime gelatin
½ cup orange juice
1 package orange gelatin
3 cups creamed cottage cheese

Section grapefruit and save juice. Heat 1 cup liquid to boiling, add lime gelatin and stir until dissolved. Add remaining cup of liquid and cool until gelatin mixture begins to set. Fold in grapefruit sections and pour into 1½ quart ring mold. Refrigerate until firmly set. Heat orange juice to boiling, add orange gelatin and stir until dissolved. Fold in cottage cheese and pour into mold on top of lime gelatin. Chill until set. To serve, unmold and garnish with fresh fruit. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

Chopped prunes tossed into eggs before scrambling are a hearty and delicious addition to this ever popular breakfast dish. Easy, too. With kitchen scissors you just snip the prune pieces from around the pits.

Another New Look At Schools

Alvin C. Eurich is the director of the Ford Foundation's education division. At the moment he calls American schools "inadequate," pointing to "antiquated" techniques and customs and concepts that have frozen and "acquired a sanctity much beyond their merits."

He suggests these concepts be "desanctified, unfrozen, re-examined and revitalized." He is convinced the results would be "rewarding beyond our wildest dreams."

"Wildest dreams" or not, Mr. Eurich cites some "shibboleths" he doesn't regard as unalterable truths. He says, "A half century of experimental work does not support the fixed teacher-student ratio concept in American education.

"In fact, research places the burden of proof on the proponents of small classes. Students do as well on examinations, and in many cases better, if taught in larger classes by superior teachers."

He challenges the fixation that the number of years in school determines the student's educational attainments. "This 'truth' has been repeatedly disproven. For example, the high school seniors in some secondary schools are better educated than some of our college graduates."

Mr. Eurich, in short, is an idea-man who can write clearly on a subject he professes to know a great deal about.

Air Force Lieutenant Uses Breeding Of Horses As Reason To Get Out

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—If you're a serviceman and don't want to be shipped overseas without your family, our advice is simple: get a rich father with political influence.

Leslie Brownell Combs found himself in that fortunate position when ordered to go to Iceland without his family in the middle of his Air Force enlistment.

Combs' papa happens to be the Leslie Combs who owns all those thoroughbred Kentucky racing horses, including such world-famous nags as Nashua and Jet Pilot. They (the Combses, not the horses) also claim kinship with Kentucky's Gov. Bert Combs.

Leslie Combs II, a product of the University of Virginia ROTC, signed up in the Air Force as a second lieutenant in April, 1959. He agreed in writing to remain on active duty for three years, until April, 1962.

However, when Lt. Combs learned that he might be shipped to Iceland without a wife, he promptly applied for discharge as a "hardship case." His alleged "hardship" was interesting. He was urgently needed to help his dad raise thoroughbreds, also to help run the Thoroughbred Horse Insurance agency.

Young Combs stated in his application for discharge that it would cost him $100,000 to stay in the Air Force.

Most "hardship cases" go through channels. But suddenly Combs' case received more Congressional attention than any relief measure since the depressed-areas bill. It was supported by such diverse Senators as John Sherman Cooper, Kentucky Republican; Warren Magnuson, Washington Democrat, and Tom Kuchel, California Republican. All joined in expressing their sympathy and concern over Combs' "hardship."

Politics Won Out

But the strongest letter to the Air Force was written by Kentucky Congressman John Watts, an old family friend.

A confidential note in Combs' Air Force personnel file sums up his situation in these candid words: "He is apparently under orders to go overseas to Iceland or somewhere he can't take his family. His father is a very wealthy, politically potent horse breeder in Kentucky who would like the boy removed from active duty and placed in the inactive reserve. Senators' offices are interested in helping if it is possible."

Rather than buck political pressure, the Air Force hastily removed Lt. Combs from the overseas roster, reviewed his record, then issued him an honorable but premature discharge.

When reached by telephone the 28-year-old Combs was out of the Air Force and comfortably in his father's horse stables. He assured this column he will remain in the Air Force reserve as long as he is physically qualified. He acknowledged that he is now helping his dad with the thoroughbreds.

He professed to know nothing about the Congressional pressure to get him out of the Air Force. He hadn't even heard of Senators Magnuson and Kuchel, he said.

"Perhaps they are friends of your father," this column suggested.

"That is quite possible," agreed young Combs.

Xmas Gift From Ike?

For GI's with children, but no rich and potent papa, I still believe it would be a wonderful Christmas gesture if President Eisenhower countermanded his order requiring GI families to come home.

The President is understandably, though belatedly, worried about the drain on the dollar, but here are some suggestions by which other Americans could help protect the dollar, not at the expense of low-paid servicemen.

Every tourist who goes abroad, for instance, would make a voluntary pledge to do the following:

1. Not bring back more than $100 of foreign goods.

2. Not spend more than $25 a day abroad.

These are not very great sacrifices. Until 1948 no American tourist could bring back more than $100 of goods duty-free. By Act of Congress May 19, 1948, tourists were permitted to bring back $300 worth of goods duty-free if they had been out of the country more than 12 hours. Then on Oct. 25, 1949, the total exemption was upped to $500.

It would take an Act of Congress to cut this figure back to $100. However, a lot of patriotic Americans would be delighted, voluntarily, to refrain from taking more than $100 exemption if it would help protect the dollar and if it would help to keep GI families together.

Some Americans go abroad, rent expensive villas along the Riviera, stay away a long time. One such is the President-elect's father, Joseph P. Kennedy. I am sure that Joe Kennedy would be the first to set an example by giving up his vacations abroad, spending his money here at home. Other American tourists would be glad, voluntarily, to curtail their expenses abroad until the dollar drain is balanced.

The President hasn't begun to exhaust the remedies to protect the dollar. The easiest one was to take it out on servicemen's wives. Why not try some of the others?

Another Golfing President

Golf enthusiasts will be happy to learn that golf will not be dead, presidentially speaking, after Dwight D. Eisenhower leaves the White House. Some others, who thought golf took up more time than the White House, will be unhappy.

Happy or unhappy, Congressman Bob Jones of Alabama, no relation to Bobby Jones the golfer, was around to see President-elect Kennedy the other day and recalled the days when, as members of Congress, both used to play golf.

"We didn't exactly burn up the course at Congressional in those days, but we held our own," remarked Jones. "How's your game now?"

"It's as good now as it was then," replied the President-elect. "Perhaps even a little better. In fact I'm really getting to enjoy the game."

Communist-Style World War III Spreading

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — World War III, Communist style, seems to be spreading. The custom in wartime is for a daily communique to be issued. Instead nowadays the news items telling of bloodshed and death are received in piecemeal fashion. The over-all effect is lost on the public.

Many people in so-called "peaceful" areas like the United States may not be following closely what's going on in the war in different parts of the world. Analyzing a few days' news dispatches from abroad, here is the story as it probably is being told to Khrushchev by his aides in the Kremlin:

"1. Ethiopia—We took advantage of the absence of Emperor Haile Selassie and started a revolution in the capital. We aligned his son with our side. He was reluctant, but he had no choice. What we hoped to do was to weaken the U.N. in the Congo, for there are Ethiopian troops in the U.N. forces and we wanted to get them out.

The Emperor is back in power again. But we have started a wave of internal dissension. Look how, by working from the inside, we got control in Guinea.

"2. Laos—The battle goes on, though the rightists, aided by the United States, are giving us quite a lot of resistance. The U. S. Embassy was fired on by some on our side. A few artillery shells will wake them up. We note that the U. S. has announced it will openly assist the rightists. We have our agents all through the area as well as troops available just across the border in China and North Vietnam, if they are needed. We shall continue to supply tanks, mortars and rifles to the revolution. The other side is on top for the moment, but we are not through yet.

"3. Algeria—We are operating successfully here. We have infiltrated the independence movement effectively, and we have managed to hurt the prestige of General de Gaulle as the whole country is plunged into the chaos we have planned.

"4. Nepal—We are busy here. The King has taken over. The Premier has been arrested and Parliament dissolved. The news dispatches from New Delhi saying that we Communists are 'getting the upper hand' here are correct. The King thinks he can stop us. He says he'll be 'neutral' between the East and the West. We'll see.

"5. Leopoldville, Congo—One of our planes has landed in our stronghold in Stanleyville with arms for soldiers who are loyal to our friend Lumumba. Lumumba's right-hand man, whom we trained in Moscow, has asked Nasser of the United Arab Republic for 'urgent shipment of arms, volunteers and food.' We must help promptly.

"6. Latin America—We have managed to provoke riots in Chile and disturbances in Ecuador. We are gaining ground particularly in Guatemala and in Venezuela, and one or both of these can come into our hands any day now. Central America is quiet on the surface, but we are penetrating it rapidly. Our efforts with 'students' are paying off. Cuba is our most valuable base, and we now can transport munitions and military supplies there for transshipment—along with our agents and propaganda — to any other country in the Western Hemisphere.

"7. Canada—We have friends here. The dollar is still all-important to the businessmen, some of whom seem ready to help us break the U. S. embargo on Cuban goods.

"8. Western Europe—We manage to keep France divided, and NATO gets weaker because France is no longer a solid partner. De Gaulle wants France to be a nuclear power, and he will not give NATO the support that has heretofore been given. The talk among the Western governments is about making NATO a nuclear entity, but we shall see. We can infiltrate some of those countries, and we have the support already of the 'left wing' in the British Labor Party. The NATO foreign ministers met in Paris the other day but got nowhere. All in all, the war goes well for our side."

This kind of warfare can go on for years, but it will not be won merely by sending tens of millions of dollars to underdeveloped countries, important as it may be to get at the poverty which is the source of great discontent. It will be necessary for the governments aided by the United States to agree to exterminate the subversive elements.

Sooner or later the United States and her allies will have to face up to the need for supplying direct military help to drive back the Communists in various countries. The U.N. is up against Soviet resistance in the Congo and eventually the Soviet government will have to be exposed as a traitor to the U.N. and expelled, or else the Communists will utilize the machinery of the U.N. to aid the cause of Communism in Africa, Latin America and Asia.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

DISAPPOINTMENT — Perhaps the greatest disappointment experienced by President-elect John F. Kennedy in forming his official family was the refusal to serve of Robert A. Lovett. Lovett, a Republican, had served under Harry S. Truman.

Kennedy offered him the post of Secretary of Defense, rated by some as the "toughest" job in Washington outside of the Presidency. The incoming President took the unusual step of announcing Lovett's refusal as the two stood at the front door of his Georgetown home.

The 70-year-old Lovett was a visibly weakening man as he stood beside the 43-year-old Kennedy. It was obviously true that Lovett's advancing years was the sole reason for his rejection of the offer.

It is a truism in politics, as well as in the world of private business, that refusal of top-rated men to serve in a position makes it increasingly difficult to attract other highly-qualified men to the post.

In this instance, it was apparent that Kennedy's motive in announcing Lovett's refusal did not want an impression to circulate that Republicans were refusing to serve in his administration, or that qualified men were declining his offers on any but the most valid grounds.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

Sometimes, I wish I was magic. At Christmastime, there are so many people I'd like to see. I'd hop around the country, pausing here and there at a house, just to say "Merry Christmas!" and "I've been thinking of you more often than you know."

I'd start here in Miami and visit Tom Ferris and a nameless blonde lady who has had a lot of hard luck; then I'd stop by to say hello to Frank Mackle of General Development and across to the beach to Hank Meyer's beautiful home and maybe kiss Lenore; then off to Bill Kofoed's and a greeting to Roger Wolin of Pan-American and more than a moment with Ted Baker and Irma, and a special good wish for Joe Tanenbaum and Lew Price and Lee Evans.

Happy huzzahs to all the gang at the Miami Herald except the one who cuts my column, and a kiss on the cheek to Theresa Mackle, who says she's 74 and refuses to permit me to date her, and a big smile for Ray Metcalf and another for my pool-hustling friend, Bob Brumby and on up to Port St. Lucie to that premier house salesman, Ray Stone.

Larry Spivak too, if he's still in Florida and George Beebe, Bob Neale and Turree have so many friends that I'd have to wait in line. The phone operators at the Key Biscayne—Effie Towers, Ila Ayars, Mildred Youpe, Elaine Burke and Marie Barno deserve to have Santa to themselves.

I'd stop for a second in Bel Aire just to look at Ann Sothern (speech isn't necessary), and swap jokes with Al Horwits, a dear friend; and a hug for Louella Parsons, who has remained on top longer than anybody in the newspaper business; a wink for Kim Novak and a moment alone with Jayne Mansfield Hargitay; greetings to Liza Wilson and a trip south to see Ann Witwer. I'd ask a question of Jack Webb, whom I admire, and stop in to hear Frankie Carle play "Sunrise Serenade."

There are so many people and places. A brotherly embrace for Allan Witwer in San Francisco; some old touches to be cut up with Ralph Walter in Rumson, N. J.; a laugh with Bob Costello of United Air Lines; a thank you for Tommy Thompson of King Features for keeping me on the rails; a debate with Johnny Willey of the Toledo Blade about Santa; a formal bow to Jack Kriendler and Charlie Berns; a kiss for Ruth Trewhella and another for Agnes Westphal and some mad jokes with Morris Napolitano.

A turkey leg with Evan Thomas of Harper; a shottische with Hal LeRoy; a spot of philosophy with Harry Brand of Fox; a gallon of men's cologne for Sherman Billingsley; bright smiles for Elinor Sullivan, Eve Siegal and Sister Maria Alacoque; an old pari-mutuel ticket for Charlie Sheehan of the N. J. Racing Commission; greetings to Bob Meyner; a wild evening with Jack and Dorothy Sullivan and some reminiscences with Joan Sullivan; a kiss for Mary Sentner, none for Dave.

A talk about the future with Richard Nixon; a word with James Hagerty; a pleasant moment with Father Joseph A. Sullivan and a chat with Monsignor LeRoy McWilliams; some old-time conversation with Fanny Schulein; more than a moment with Bill and Amanda Scanlon and an evening with Toots and Baby Shor; hello to Tom Rogers and Marvin Fowler; a tooth for a tooth with Dr. Milton Ross; a rack of pool with Billy Rose; some precious moments listening to Bernard Baruch.

Music with Alma Ross; a toast to Joe Sage; hello to Brook Palmer; a Christmas drink with Vic Perotti and Tom Farrell; a coat of tan from Lucia Perrigo's smile; much time for Bill and Bootsie Hearst; out to Reno for a fast gab with Al Porter; fun in Florida with Jack Paar and Miriam; a rooting interest in Gert and Mark Hanna, the gallant ones.

Permit me to interrupt Otto Preminger and listen to Ben Pollack of the Justice Dept.; greetings to Jack O'Connell and Frank Coniff, not to mention Tom Dodd and Frank Osmers and Pat O'Brien and Walter O'Keefe; a long stay with the Dan Healys; blessings on C. The best New Year's wishes to Mack Millar; Blanche Maki; Barker Seely and Bob Morrill; let's not forget Judge John Murtagh and Judge Irving Kaufman; affectionate greetings to Phyllis Jackson and Ned Brown; the Jack Mehlers; Gene Murphys and Tom Meany; Maxie Lewis, my friend; Ella Logan; Miriam Lynch; Joe Le Tourneau of Alitalia; Milt Kaplan; Dr. Charles Kelly; Dr. Bernard Krull; Molly Kirwan; Al Jordan; John Joseph; Eddie Hough; Buddy Hackett; Jackie Gleason; Gladys Glad; Randy Hearst; Roy Howard; Mary McCloud; Emil and Kay Herman; the Sidney Goldbergs; Fred Grimsey; Bev Griffith; Tom and Charlie Carr; Tom Bly; Nels Benedict; Sam Boal; Al Armitage; Bill Judkins and all those with whom I'd like to spend a few minutes.

I have a better idea. All of you come to see me. . .

Yuletide Hurrah

By John Crosby

Christmas is almost on us. Never has New York glittered with little white Christmas lights so resplendently. Never has the radio run so persistently or at such length with sleigh bells and the tune of that old song "Sandman," a good song which has been rewritten and denigrated to the status of "Mr. Santa."

In Washington, two network heads, Frank Stanton of CBS and Robert Sarnoff, of NBC, have suggested that the Presidential campaign be shortened, that everyone gets bored with the blasted thing. Now, wait a minute, gentlemen! If we're going to start shortening things, what about Christmas? It gets longer every year. If television has changed the nature of electioneering, it has surely changed the nature of Christmas beyond all recognition.

Television is in danger of making a bore of Christmas, and, as a great sentimentalist, I resent this. Presidential campaigns have always had a large measure of ennui in them. But not Christmas. They can start decorating the town right after Thanksgiving because I think Fifth Avenue is wildly beautiful with the trees and the lights and the shop windows, if only the Christmas spirit was not so heavily over-emphasized in other directions. I've just gotten a letter from a man who is trying to save the fourth of July from Christmas now that we seem to have lost Thanksgiving.

I have here another letter somebody clipped from an Irish newspaper and sent to me which I think hits the proper mood exactly right—neither too high nor too low but right in the chops. It's from a small Irish child who wrote:

"Dear Santa:

"For two years I have wrote you my letters and here comes my third. I would like a bottle of gin for my father, a dress for my mother, cuff links for my brother, and slips for my sister-in-law. I have been a very good boy and I want my reply for Christmas."

Now, what thoughtfulness! What a precise fitting of the gift to the recipient! None of your bloody neckties for father but a bottle of gin to warm his heart and induce the proper philosophical reverence. A dress for mother who would be worried about the outer appearances and a slip for sister-in-law who is obviously a younger and more frivolous girl, and cuff links for brother—what man has enough of them? It's a good solid list, demanding neither too much nor too little.

From the sage of Brooklyn, Sam Levenson, I have another different suggestion for Christmas which I think a good one, only slightly subversive.

"I was raised in a very cultured home," writes Mr. Levenson in his cultured Brooklyn prose. "We were surrounded by books, mostly second hand four times removed. Papa couldn't resist any literary work which cost less than ten cents.

"He had no use for the stuff they were teaching us at school like: 'The cow says moo moo.' 'The pig says oink.' 'The dog says bow wow.' 'What's the matter with those animals — can't they talk English?' he asked. The word 'encyclopedia' brought tears to papa's eyes. Culture! He bought me a twenty-four volume encyclopedia for two dollars. That set simplified history for me considerably. Why not? When those volumes were printed, there were only fourteen states in the Union, and it listed the exile of Napoleon under current events.

"By the time I was eight I had read with interest 'The Rejected Poems of Wordsworth,' 'Letters of Admiral Breckenridge to his Nephew,' and 'How to Heat an Igloo.' What child of today can match that record?

"Americans today spend more money on TV repairs than they spend on books. And our children have had to learn to read the hard way—while watching TV! So to keep culture alive, let's give books. Here's a little list of celebrities and the books I think would be appropriate.

"Oscar Levant—'Enjoy! Enjoy!'

"Jack Kennedy—'The Last Hurrah'

"Richard Nixon—'The Last Angry Man'

"Art Linkletter—'The Child Buyer.'

"Nikita Khrushchev—'New York on $5 a Day.'"

Children Should Learn To Take Care Of Feet

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Every child should be taught good foot hygiene so that lifelong, comfortable walking may be enjoyed. This might put our foot doctors out of business but it's worth it.

The lesson begins with cleanliness and drying the feet and toes after bathing. The next is to wear shoes and hose that fit. The third centers about the importance of walking properly.

In walking, the shoulders are thrown back and, with each step, the heel strikes the ground first. This forces the body weight over the outer aspect of the soles to the metatarsal areas in a smooth, rolling fashion. The toes dig in to propel the body forward. All children should learn to walk in this fashion, to reach maturity with strong, healthy feet.

Good shoes should have a straight last and sufficient width to prevent constriction of the toes. Care of the footgear is as important as their selection. Rundown heels throw the body off balance. Old shoes that are loose, misshapen, and offer little support may feel comfortable but do the feet no favor.

The fourth lesson centers about a simple engineering factor. Contrast the effect on the weight bearing surfaces of the foot of good posture and poor posture. A faulty stance shifts the weight bearing line and creates unusual strain on the arches and pressure along the toes. This is a time for parents to demonstrate what the addition of 30 or more pounds of fat does to the arches.

The final lesson is to make a ritual of examining the feet and trimming the nails once a week under a good light. Cut straight across, avoiding injury to the flesh. Look for pressure areas such as corns and calluses. Also, eye the areas between the toes for evidence of cracks or fissures that may mean early ringworm infection.

Exercise the feet to improve the circulation and keep the arches strong. Walking is best for grownups but youngsters thrive on running, jumping, and climbing. Specific foot exercises consist in picking up marbles or a pencil with the toes and standing on the toes. The Achilles' tendon is easily stretched by squatting.

(Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on walking properly.)

TOMORROW: Too much nutmeg and other items.

RINGWORM OF THE SKIN

M. G. writes: What is the cause of ringworm spots on a child's face?

REPLY

This type of fungal infection may develop through contact with another victim or the spores may spread through the air. Facial involvement is not as common as ringworm of the scalp or feet.

THROAT AND KIDNEY

Mrs. F. writes: Could bad tonsils cause nephritis in a young child?

REPLY

Nephritis (Bright's disease) usually follows a strep infection in the throat. The tonsils may contribute to the infection, especially if they harbor streptococci.

CONCEPTION

D. M. R. writes: Can a woman become pregnant while reducing?

REPLY

Yes, provided the other criteria are met.

EFFECTS OF CHOREA

M. K. writes: Will St. Vitus' dance in childhood cause any trouble in adult life?

REPLY

Not unless the rheumatic fever that caused St. Vitus' dance involved the heart also and produced permanent damage.

CANCER ON BRIDGE

A. H. writes: I have had three cancers removed from the bridge of the nose where the glasses rest. Could this be caused by cutting off of the circulation by the nosepiece of the specs?

REPLY

No. It may stem from the reflection of the rays of the sun that converge on that area. I assume the second and third cancers were not returns of the first.

HEART NOT AFFECTED

H. P. V. writes: Can varicose veins affect the heart?

REPLY

No. Only the leg circulation is disturbed.

To the limit of space questions pertinent to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Twas the night after Christmas, and a wealthy psychiatrist, father of five children, sat exhausted in his easy chair. "You might say," he advised his wife, "that I am suffering from a severe case of Santa Claustrophobia."

Morey Amsterdam tells about a Scotch couple he overheard discussing the coming birthday of their young hopeful. "Angus," said the mother, "tells me he'd like either a bicycle or a tricycle."

"Why don't we wait till January," suggested the father, "and get him an icicle?"

Miss Chou Chou Horntoot buttoned a diamond-studded vicuna coat around her miniature poodle and took him for a walk up East River Drive one frigid January afternoon. When she came home, she was indignant. "You won't believe this," Chou Chou told her maid, "but do you know that 90% of the dogs on this drive don't even have overcoats?"

Another New Look At Schools

Alvin C. Eurich is the director of the Ford Foundation's education division. At the moment he calls American schools "inadequate," pointing to "antiquated" techniques and customs and concepts that have frozen and "acquired a sanctity much beyond their merits."

He suggests these concepts be "desanctified, unfrozen, re-examined and revitalized." He is convinced the results would be "rewarding beyond our wildest dreams."

"Wildest dreams" or not, Mr. Eurich cites some "shibboleths" he doesn't regard as unalterable truths. He says, "A half century of experimental work does not support the fixed teacher-student ratio concept in American education.

"In fact, research places the burden of proof on the proponents of small classes. Students do as well on examinations, and in many cases better, if taught in larger classes by superior teachers."

He challenges the fixation that the number of years in school determines the student's educational attainments. "This 'truth' has been repeatedly disproven. For example, the high school seniors in some secondary schools are better educated than some of our college graduates."

Mr. Eurich, in short, is an idea-man who can write clearly on a subject he professes to know a great deal about.

Communist-Style World War III Spreading

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — World War III, Communist style, seems to be spreading. The custom in wartime is for a daily communique to be issued. Instead nowadays the news items telling of bloodshed and death are received in piecemeal fashion. The over-all effect is lost on the public.

Many people in so-called "peaceful" areas like the United States may not be following closely what's going on in the war in different parts of the world. Analyzing a few days' news dispatches from abroad, here is the story as it probably is being told to Khrushchev by his aides in the Kremlin:

"1. Ethiopia—We took advantage of the absence of Emperor Haile Selassie and started a revolution in the capital. We aligned his son with our side. He was reluctant, but he had no choice. What we hoped to do was to weaken the U.N. in the Congo, for there are Ethiopian troops in the U.N. forces and we wanted to get them out.

The Emperor is back in power again. But we have started a wave of internal dissension. Look how, by working from the inside, we got control in Guinea.

"2. Laos—The battle goes on, though the rightists, aided by the United States, are giving us quite a lot of resistance. The U. S. Embassy was fired on by some on our side. A few artillery shells will wake them up. We note that the U. S. has announced it will openly assist the rightists. We have our agents all through the area as well as troops available just across the border in China and North Vietnam, if they are needed. We shall continue to supply tanks, mortars and rifles to the revolution. The other side is on top for the moment, but we are not through yet.

"3. Algeria—We are operating successfully here. We have infiltrated the independence movement effectively, and we have managed to hurt the prestige of General de Gaulle as the whole country is plunged into the chaos we have planned.

"4. Nepal—We are busy here. The King has taken over. The Premier has been arrested and Parliament dissolved. The news dispatches from New Delhi saying that we Communists are 'getting the upper hand' here are correct. The King thinks he can stop us. He says he'll be 'neutral' between the East and the West. We'll see.

"5. Leopoldville, Congo—One of our planes has landed in our stronghold in Stanleyville with arms for soldiers who are loyal to our friend Lumumba. Lumumba's right-hand man, whom we trained in Moscow, has asked Nasser of the United Arab Republic for 'urgent shipment of arms, volunteers and food.' We must help promptly.

"6. Latin America—We have managed to provoke riots in Chile and disturbances in Ecuador. We are gaining ground particularly in Guatemala and in Venezuela, and one or both of these can come into our hands any day now. Central America is quiet on the surface, but we are penetrating it rapidly. Our efforts with 'students' are paying off. Cuba is our most valuable base, and we now can transport munitions and military supplies there for transshipment—along with our agents and propaganda — to any other country in the Western Hemisphere.

"7. Canada—We have friends here. The dollar is still all-important to the businessmen, some of whom seem ready to help us break the U. S. embargo on Cuban goods.

"8. Western Europe—We manage to keep France divided, and NATO gets weaker because France is no longer a solid partner. De Gaulle wants France to be a nuclear power, and he will not give NATO the support that has heretofore been given. The talk among the Western governments is about making NATO a nuclear entity, but we shall see. We can infiltrate some of those countries, and we have the support already of the 'left wing' in the British Labor Party. The NATO foreign ministers met in Paris the other day but got nowhere. All in all, the war goes well for our side."

This kind of warfare can go on for years, but it will not be won merely by sending tens of millions of dollars to underdeveloped countries, important as it may be to get at the poverty which is the source of great discontent. It will be necessary for the governments aided by the United States to agree to exterminate the subversive elements.

Sooner or later the United States and her allies will have to face up to the need for supplying direct military help to drive back the Communists in various countries. The U.N. is up against Soviet resistance in the Congo and eventually the Soviet government will have to be exposed as a traitor to the U.N. and expelled, or else the Communists will utilize the machinery of the U.N. to aid the cause of Communism in Africa, Latin America and Asia.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

DISAPPOINTMENT — Perhaps the greatest disappointment experienced by President-elect John F. Kennedy in forming his official family was the refusal to serve of Robert A. Lovett. Lovett, a Republican, had served under Harry S. Truman.

Kennedy offered him the post of Secretary of Defense, rated by some as the "toughest" job in Washington outside of the Presidency. The incoming President took the unusual step of announcing Lovett's refusal as the two stood at the front door of his Georgetown home.

The 70-year-old Lovett was a visibly weakening man as he stood beside the 43-year-old Kennedy. It was obviously true that Lovett's advancing years was the sole reason for his rejection of the offer.

It is a truism in politics, as well as in the world of private business, that refusal of top-rated men to serve in a position makes it increasingly difficult to attract other highly-qualified men to the post.

In this instance, it was apparent that Kennedy's motive in announcing Lovett's refusal did not want an impression to circulate that Republicans were refusing to serve in his administration, or that qualified men were declining his offers on any but the most valid grounds.

Air Force Lieutenant Uses Breeding Of Horses As Reason To Get Out

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—If you're a serviceman and don't want to be shipped overseas without your family, our advice is simple: get a rich father with political influence.

Leslie Brownell Combs found himself in that fortunate position when ordered to go to Iceland without his family in the middle of his Air Force enlistment.

Combs' papa happens to be the Leslie Combs who owns all those thoroughbred Kentucky racing horses, including such world-famous nags as Nashua and Jet Pilot. They (the Combses, not the horses) also claim kinship with Kentucky's Gov. Bert Combs.

Leslie Combs II, a product of the University of Virginia ROTC, signed up in the Air Force as a second lieutenant in April, 1959. He agreed in writing to remain on active duty for three years, until April, 1962.

However, when Lt. Combs learned that he might be shipped to Iceland without a wife, he promptly applied for discharge as a "hardship case." His alleged "hardship" was interesting. He was urgently needed to help his dad raise thoroughbreds, also to help run the Thoroughbred Horse Insurance agency.

Young Combs stated in his application for discharge that it would cost him $100,000 to stay in the Air Force.

Most "hardship cases" go through channels. But suddenly Combs' case received more Congressional attention than any relief measure since the depressed-areas bill. It was supported by such diverse Senators as John Sherman Cooper, Kentucky Republican; Warren Magnuson, Washington Democrat, and Tom Kuchel, California Republican. All joined in expressing their sympathy and concern over Combs' "hardship."

Politics Won Out

But the strongest letter to the Air Force was written by Kentucky Congressman John Watts, an old family friend.

A confidential note in Combs' Air Force personnel file sums up his situation in these candid words: "He is apparently under orders to go overseas to Iceland or somewhere he can't take his family. His father is a very wealthy, politically potent horse breeder in Kentucky who would like the boy removed from active duty and placed in the inactive reserve. Senators' offices are interested in helping if it is possible."

Rather than buck political pressure, the Air Force hastily removed Lt. Combs from the overseas roster, reviewed his record, then issued him an honorable but premature discharge.

When reached by telephone the 28-year-old Combs was out of the Air Force and comfortably in his father's horse stables. He assured this column he will remain in the Air Force reserve as long as he is physically qualified. He acknowledged that he is now helping his dad with the thoroughbreds.

He professed to know nothing about the Congressional pressure to get him out of the Air Force. He hadn't even heard of Senators Magnuson and Kuchel, he said.

"Perhaps they are friends of your father," this column suggested.

"That is quite possible," agreed young Combs.

Xmas Gift From Ike?

For GI's with children, but no rich and potent papa, I still believe it would be a wonderful Christmas gesture if President Eisenhower countermanded his order requiring GI families to come home.

The President is understandably, though belatedly, worried about the drain on the dollar, but here are some suggestions by which other Americans could help protect the dollar, not at the expense of low-paid servicemen.

Every tourist who goes abroad, for instance, would make a voluntary pledge to do the following:

1. Not bring back more than $100 of foreign goods.

2. Not spend more than $25 a day abroad.

These are not very great sacrifices. Until 1948 no American tourist could bring back more than $100 of goods duty-free. By Act of Congress May 19, 1948, tourists were permitted to bring back $300 worth of goods duty-free if they had been out of the country more than 12 hours. Then on Oct. 25, 1949, the total exemption was upped to $500.

It would take an Act of Congress to cut this figure back to $100. However, a lot of patriotic Americans would be delighted, voluntarily, to refrain from taking more than $100 exemption if it would help protect the dollar and if it would help to keep GI families together.

Some Americans go abroad, rent expensive villas along the Riviera, stay away a long time. One such is the President-elect's father, Joseph P. Kennedy. I am sure that Joe Kennedy would be the first to set an example by giving up his vacations abroad, spending his money here at home. Other American tourists would be glad, voluntarily, to curtail their expenses abroad until the dollar drain is balanced.

The President hasn't begun to exhaust the remedies to protect the dollar. The easiest one was to take it out on servicemen's wives. Why not try some of the others?

Another Golfing President

Golf enthusiasts will be happy to learn that golf will not be dead, presidentially speaking, after Dwight D. Eisenhower leaves the White House. Some others, who thought golf took up more time than the White House, will be unhappy.

Happy or unhappy, Congressman Bob Jones of Alabama, no relation to Bobby Jones the golfer, was around to see President-elect Kennedy the other day and recalled the days when, as members of Congress, both used to play golf.

"We didn't exactly burn up the course at Congressional in those days, but we held our own," remarked Jones. "How's your game now?"

"It's as good now as it was then," replied the President-elect. "Perhaps even a little better. In fact I'm really getting to enjoy the game."

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

Sometimes, I wish I was magic. At Christmastime, there are so many people I'd like to see. I'd hop around the country, pausing here and there at a house, just to say "Merry Christmas!" and "I've been thinking of you more often than you know."

I'd start here in Miami and visit Tom Ferris and a nameless blonde lady who has had a lot of hard luck; then I'd stop by to say hello to Frank Mackle of General Development and across to the beach to Hank Meyer's beautiful home and maybe kiss Lenore; then off to Bill Kofoed's and a greeting to Roger Wolin of Pan-American and more than a moment with Ted Baker and Irma, and a special good wish for Joe Tanenbaum and Lew Price and Lee Evans.

Happy huzzahs to all the gang at the Miami Herald except the one who cuts my column, and a kiss on the cheek to Theresa Mackle, who says she's 74 and refuses to permit me to date her, and a big smile for Ray Metcalf and another for my pool-hustling friend, Bob Brumby and on up to Port St. Lucie to that premier house salesman, Ray Stone.

Larry Spivak too, if he's still in Florida and George Beebe, Bob Neale and Turree have so many friends that I'd have to wait in line. The phone operators at the Key Biscayne—Effie Towers, Ila Ayars, Mildred Youpe, Elaine Burke and Marie Barno deserve to have Santa to themselves.

I'd stop for a second in Bel Aire just to look at Ann Sothern (speech isn't necessary), and swap jokes with Al Horwits, a dear friend; and a hug for Louella Parsons, who has remained on top longer than anybody in the newspaper business; a wink for Kim Novak and a moment alone with Jayne Mansfield Hargitay; greetings to Liza Wilson and a trip south to see Ann Witwer. I'd ask a question of Jack Webb, whom I admire, and stop in to hear Frankie Carle play "Sunrise Serenade."

There are so many people and places. A brotherly embrace for Allan Witwer in San Francisco; some old touches to be cut up with Ralph Walter in Rumson, N. J.; a laugh with Bob Costello of United Air Lines; a thank you for Tommy Thompson of King Features for keeping me on the rails; a debate with Johnny Willey of the Toledo Blade about Santa; a formal bow to Jack Kriendler and Charlie Berns; a kiss for Ruth Trewhella and another for Agnes Westphal and some mad jokes with Morris Napolitano.

A turkey leg with Evan Thomas of Harper; a shottische with Hal LeRoy; a spot of philosophy with Harry Brand of Fox; a gallon of men's cologne for Sherman Billingsley; bright smiles for Elinor Sullivan, Eve Siegal and Sister Maria Alacoque; an old parimutuel ticket for Charlie Sheehan of the N. J. Racing Commission; greetings to Bob Meyner; a wild evening with Jack and Dorothy Sullivan and some reminiscences with Joan Sullivan; a kiss for Mary Sentner, none for Dave.

A talk about the future with Richard Nixon; a word with James Hagerty; a pleasant moment with Father Joseph A. Sullivan and a chat with Monsignor LeRoy McWilliams; some old-time conversation with Fanny Schulein; more than a moment with Bill and Amanda Scanlon and an evening with Toots and Baby Shor; hello to Tom Rogers and Marvin Fowler; a tooth for a tooth with Dr. Milton Ross; a rack of pool with Billy Rose; some precious moments listening to Bernard Baruch.

Music with Alma Ross; a toast to Joe Sage; hello to Brook Palmer; a Christmas drink with Vic Perotti and Tom Farrell; a coat of tan from Lucia Perrigo's smile; much time for Bill and Bootsie Hearst; out to Reno for a fast gab with Al Porter; fun in Florida with Jack Paar and Miriam; a rooting interest in Gert and Mark Hanna, the gallant ones.

Permit me to interrupt Otto Preminger and listen to Ben Pollack of the Justice Dept.; greetings to Jack O'Connell and Frank Coniff, not to mention Tom Dodd and Frank Osmers and Pat O'Brien and Walter O'Keefe; a long stay with the Dan Healys; blessings on C. B. Lindeman in Seattle; same to George Tracy of the Milwaukee Sentinal; hello to Lee Ettleson and Sam Day; a jig with Eddie Mahar and Paul Schoenstein; admiration for Burris Jenkins and Georgia; gratitude to Bob Matell; Merry Christmas to Nick Napoli and Cele Nolte and Sonny Moyse.

Children Should Learn To Take Care Of Feet

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Every child should be taught good foot hygiene so that lifelong, comfortable walking may be enjoyed. This might put our foot doctors out of business but it's worth it.

The lesson begins with cleanliness and drying the feet and toes after bathing. The next is to wear shoes and hose that fit. The third centers about the importance of walking properly.

In walking, the shoulders are thrown back and, with each step, the heel strikes the ground first. This forces the body weight over the outer aspect of the soles to the metatarsal areas in a smooth, rolling fashion. The toes dig in to propel the body forward. All children should learn to walk in this fashion, to reach maturity with strong, healthy feet.

Good shoes should have a straight last and sufficient width to prevent constriction of the toes. Care of the footgear is as important as their selection. Rundown heels throw the body off balance. Old shoes that are loose, misshapen, and offer little support may feel comfortable but do the feet no favor.

The fourth lesson centers about a simple engineering factor. Contrast the effect on the weight bearing surfaces of the foot of good posture and poor posture. A faulty stance shifts the weight bearing line and creates unusual strain on the arches and pressure along the toes. This is a time for parents to demonstrate what the addition of 30 or more pounds of fat does to the arches.

The final lesson is to make a ritual of examining the feet and trimming the nails once a week under a good light. Cut straight across, avoiding injury to the flesh. Look for pressure areas such as corns and calluses. Also, eye the areas between the toes for evidence of cracks or fissures that may mean early ringworm infection.

Exercise the feet to improve the circulation and keep the arches strong. Walking is best for grownups but youngsters thrive on running, jumping, and climbing. Specific foot exercises consist in picking up marbles or a pencil with the toes and standing on the toes. The Achilles' tendon is easily stretched by squatting.

(Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on walking properly.)

TOMORROW: Too much nutmeg and other items.

RINGWORM OF THE SKIN

M. G. writes: What is the cause of ringworm spots on a child's face?

REPLY

This type of fungal infection may develop through contact with another victim or the spores may spread through the air. Facial involvement is not as common as ringworm of the scalp or feet.

THROAT AND KIDNEY

Mrs. F. writes: Could bad tonsils cause nephritis in a young child?

REPLY

Nephritis (Bright's disease) usually follows a strep infection in the throat. The tonsils may contribute to the infection, especially if they harbor streptococci.

CONCEPTION

D. M. R. writes: Can a woman become pregnant while reducing?

REPLY

Yes, provided the other criteria are met.

EFFECTS OF CHOREA

M. K. writes: Will St. Vitus' dance in childhood cause any trouble in adult life?

REPLY

Not unless the rheumatic fever that caused St. Vitus' dance involved the heart also and produced permanent damage.

CANCER ON BRIDGE

A. H. writes: I have had three cancers removed from the bridge of the nose where the glasses rest. Could this be caused by cutting off of the circulation by the nosepiece of the specs?

REPLY

No. It may stem from the reflection of the rays of the sun that converge on that area. I assume the second and third cancers were not returns of the first.

HEART NOT AFFECTED

H. P. V. writes: Can varicose veins affect the heart?

REPLY

No. Only the leg circulation is disturbed.

To the limit of space questions pertinent to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

'Twas the night after Christmas, and a wealthy psychiatrist, father of five children, sat exhausted in his easy chair. "You might say," he advised his wife, "that I am suffering from a severe case of Santa Claustrophobia."

Morey Amsterdam tells about a Scotch couple he overheard discussing the coming birthday of their young hopeful. "Angus," said the mother, "tells me he'd like either a bicycle or a tricycle."

"Why don't we wait till January," suggested the father, "and get him an icicle?"

Miss Chou Chou Horntoot buttoned a diamond-studded vicuna coat around her miniature poodle and took him for a walk up East River Drive one frigid January afternoon. When she came home, she was indignant. "You won't believe this," Chou Chou told her maid, "but do you know that 90% of the dogs on this drive don't even have overcoats?"

Woman Hurt In Frostburg Fire Is 'Fair'

A Frostburg businesswoman was injured seriously Wednesday night when a flash fire occurred in her home at 12 Mill Street in that city.

Mrs. Patricia Frost, operator of Pat's Beauty Salon, 13 Broadway, Frostburg, was taken to Miners Hospital, Frostburg, by firemen who found her lying along side of her home.

She told the attending physician that she either fell or jumped from the second floor.

Her two sons, Larry, 14, and Ronald, 17, escaped without being hurt.

The physician said Mrs. Frost suffered first and second degree burns of the face, had a broken right arm, back injury plus other injuries to her extremities which must be determined later through X-rays.

The hospital said last night that she was still in shock and her condition was only listed as being fair.

Neighbors reported that an explosion occurred at 11:15 p. m. and almost instantly the interior of the first and second stories of the half of the double house that she occupied became full of flames.

Her son, Larry, was taking a bath at the time and was able to escape from the house by crawling out on the porch roof, minus his clothes, in the near zero weather.

He was rescued by firemen of the Frostburg Fire Department and taken to the home of a neighbor, Mrs. Melvin Harris.

The other son, Ronald, was able to get out of the house and was taken to another neighbor's home, Mrs. Mint Scarpelli.

Joseph Durst of the Frostburg Fire Department, one of the first at the scene, took Mrs. Frost to the hospital.

Mrs. Alexander Rowe, Mrs. Frost's housekeeper, said she had not used the clothes dryer for two days. Some firemen observed that the explosion from an accumulation of gas could have started in that device.

All furnishings in the house were burned, both upstairs and downstairs, by the intense heat and flames of the blast.

Three pieces of equipment from the Frostburg Department answered the alarm.

Program Planned

FROSTBURG — The Sunday School of the Frostburg Assembly of God Church will present, "Our Christmas Program" today at 7:15 p. m. Recitations, exercises and plays will be given. Rev. George A. LeRoy extends a welcome to all.

Coal Turbine Research Moves To Final Stage

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Research on a coal-fired turbine at the Bureau of Mines experiment station at Morgantown, W. Va., is moving into the crucial phase of final additional construction and testing, the Bureau of Mines said Thursday.

A bureau spokesman said testing of the turbine, which actually was developed during 12 years of intensive industrial research by the locomotive development committee of Bituminous Coal Research Inc., was expected to start in about one year.

The spokesman said a perfected turbine would not offer economic salvation for the nation's depressed coal industry but that it held promise of consolidating and possibly expanding the industry's utility market where coal has continued strong despite bad times in other areas as fuel competition.

The bureau has made some design changes aimed at adapting the turbine for power generation. Additional manufactured parts will be needed before the "shakedown" run, tentatively scheduled in about one year.

The experimental turbine utilizes coal for the power source rather than as a mere heating element as employed in the conventional steam generator.

This is done by feeding pulverized coal to a combustion chamber under pressure. The ash and unburned carbon are removed and the remaining gases furnish the power.

Bureau officials indicated that research so far suggests that maximum efficiency can be achieved by a combination steam-generated and coal-fired power unit.

They estimated the present 38 to 40 per cent efficiency rate for the conventional steam cycle could be raised as much as 6 per cent by combining the techniques.

The coal gas turbine is one of several bureau projects aimed at finding new use for the nation's 1.7 billion tons of coal reserves—a 2,000 year supply at present rates of usage.

During 1959, nearly half of the coal produced ended up in the power utility market.

Kaiser To Expand

RAVENSWOOD, W. Va. (UPI) — Expansion of local facilities to produce painted aluminum coil was revealed Thursday by the Kaiser Aluminum & Chemical Corp. The new line "will provide Ravenswood with one of the most flexible and modern operations of its kind in the industry," a spokesman said.

Increase Noted

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Broiler chick placements in West Virginia last week showed a 44 per cent increase over the mid-November total and a 11 per cent increase over the comparable period last year, the Federal State Crop Reporting Service said Thursday.

Heart-Rending And Light Moments Are Part Of 1960

By CARTER B. McDAVID

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—An unexpected appearance by Sen. John F. Kennedy in a Charleston community theater play was but one of the lighter moments of 1960 — a year that also had its heart-rending moments.

Kennedy, campaigning for the Democratic presidential nomination at the time, did a walk-on as the theater group was rehearsing, explaining he was practicing for "show biz" in case he lost the nomination.

Needless to say, that was probably the president - elects last appearance before the theater floodlights.

But other human interest stories weren't as light in nature. Such as one event affecting a West Virginian in far off Agadir, Morocco.

Mrs. Sue Martins, young and attractive wife of Lt. Gerald Martins of St. Albans, was trapped in the ruins of a hotel leveled by an earthquake.

The lieutenant and his baby daughter escaped with minor injuries, but Mrs. Martins was given up for dead by everyone except her husband. He refused to leave the scene until he definitely knew her fate.

Boys On Girls' Mind

Martins' urging of rescuers to continue the search for Mrs. Martins paid off. She was found alive. After a few days of rest, the entire family was well and happy again.

Boys, as usual, occupied the minds of many West Virginia girls this year. One young beauty attending a conservation camp was asked what she liked best about the place. Her reply was short and to the point: "Boys."

And another young lady wrote the Conservation Commission for information about the state's fishing laws. Her boy friend was a fisherman, she said, and she wanted to know if it would be allright for her to go along on the fishing trip and sit on the bank with him.

Some members of the Hardy County Farm Women's Club had a shattering experience after setting out on a sightseeing tour of the nation's capital.

Old Bottle Found

He never did show up and the woman had to wait some time until another driver was acquired.

Speaking of traveling, a bottle containing a note dropped into the North Atlantic in December, 1952, by a South Charleston man on Coast Guard duty, brought results in 1960. The note asked the finder to write.

Bernard G. DeLois received a letter this year from an Iceland resident who said he had picked the bottle out of the ocean last April 7.

Sen. Robert C. Byrd set a record this year for non - travel. He presided over the Senate during a Civil Rights filibuster for a record 21 hours and 8 minutes. And he still looked pretty fresh when he finally turned over the seat to someone else.

Roane County probably can claim one of the most honest West Virginians. He's Charles Robinson of Walton.

Robinson entered a Charleston bank and asked for $500 in $1 bills. The teller handed him 10 packages of bills. Robinson said she had given him too much money.

The man continued to argue and finally another official of the bank showed up and took a look at the packages. Each of them contained $20 bills instead of $1's.

Pledges Scholarship

A Charleston business man, William J. Maier Jr., pledged $2 million for a scholarship fund for needy students at Harvard University.

A graduate of Harvard, Maier said he had always wanted to provide a fund to help other persons to benefit from an education at the school.

A 19-year-old Fairmont area girl could attest to the fact that prisoners at the Moundsville State Penitentiary are not all the hardened personalities that some think.

Sharon Hearn was critically injured in a sledding accident, and a hospital didn't have enough of her blood type on hand for transfusions.

A quick call was made to the prison and five inmates immediately volunteered to provide the blood. Their generosity saved Sharon's life.

Church Class Holds Annual Holiday Party

FROSTBURG — The annual Christmas party was held for members of the Philathea Class of First English Baptist Church following a covered dish supper recently.

The tables and room were festively decorated by the committee consisting of Mrs. Anna Myers, Mrs. Eva Reidler and Miss Margaret Price. The business session preceded the party with Harriet Bradley, president, in charge. The devotional scripture was read by Miss Bradley followed by prayer by Mrs. Doris Ward.

The program with Mrs. Rae Pugh as program chairman was as follows:

Group singing, silent night; "A December Night, Long, Long Ago," Mrs. Martha Hosken; "Christmas Housecleaning," Mrs. Ward; "Something About Christmas," Miss Margaret Price; "The Sailors Christmas," Mrs. Marion Geary; "At Christmas Time," Mrs. Mern Stewart; "Christmas Meditation," Mrs. Catherine Minnicks.

A playlet entitled, "The Shepherds Story" concluded the program with Mrs. Sarah Ansel, Mrs. Flora Logsdon, Mrs. Sarah Snelson, and Miss Della Offman as narrators and background singing by a trio consisting of Mrs. Pugh, Mrs. Ward, and Miss Bradley.

The annual offering was received and $40 was given to the church rug fund. The Christmas project of making bedroom slippers for members of the Baptist Home for Women in Baltimore was reported as completed and delivered. A letter was read from Miss Nellie Harvey, a resident of the home and a former Philathea Class member. An afghan, made by the class members was presented to Rev. and Mrs. Marvin Simpson who were also guests at the dinner.

The party was concluded with the exchange of gifts.

Special Service

FROSTBURG — The Frostburg Church of the Brethren will hold a Christmas Eve service at 7:30 p. m. The service will consist of a candlelighting ceremony entitled, "And Lo, It Came To Pass."

Services will be held Sunday at 9:30 and 10:30 a. m. No service is scheduled for Sunday evening.

Girl, 13, Dies Following Open Heart Surgery

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—A 13-year-old South Charleston girl whose open - heart surgery was the subject of a two-hour television program here this week died Thursday of post-operative complications.

A member of the surgical team that performed the operation last Friday at a Charleston hospital, said Joan Cadle died of a "complication that is very rare." A video-tape recording of the operation was presented Sunday by WCHS-TV.

Emphasizing that the five-hour surgery to close a "medium size" hole in the wall of Joan's heart between two ventricals was a success. The surgeon said she lacked sufficient "platelets" which help control bleeding in the human body. This internal bleeding began on the third day after the girl's operation.

Dr. Morris O'Dell said "this occurs occasionally after massive transfusions, use of an artificial kidney and a heart pump."

Joan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Park Cadle of the Spring Hill section of South Charleston, was found to have a congenital heart defect after she suffered fainting spells.

Numerous blood transfusions were required, as is the custom in all such surgery, and a heart pump was used to carry on the circulation functions of the body during the operation.

"We know of no way to prevent such bleeding when it does occur," the surgeon said. "As long as the patient's bleeding does not go into any vital area, there is a chance for recovery."

Crash Victims Die

WELCH, W. Va. (UPI)—Elmer Puckett, of Bradshaw, McDowell County, and B. Hobbs, of Brenton, Wyoming County, both injured last Sunday in a two-car collision on U. S. 52 near Iaeger, died in a Welch hospital Thursday. Funeral arrangements were incomplete.

The experimental turbine utilizes coal for the power source rather than as a mere heating element as employed in the conventional steam generator.

This is done by feeding pulverized coal to a combustion chamber under pressure. The ash and unburned carbon are removed and the remaining gases furnish the power.

Bureau officials indicated that research so far suggests that maximum efficiency can be achieved by a combination steam-generated and coal-fired power unit.

They estimated the present 38 to 40 per cent efficiency rate for the conventional steam cycle could be raised as much as 6 per cent by combining the techniques.

The coal gas turbine is one of several bureau projects aimed at finding new use for the nation's 1.7 billion tons of coal reserves—a 2,000 year supply at present rates of usage.

During 1959, nearly half of the coal produced ended up in the power utility market.

Heart-Rending And Light Moments Are Part Of 1960

By CARTER B. McDAVID

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—An unexpected appearance by Sen. John F. Kennedy in a Charleston community theater play was but one of the lighter moments of 1960 — a year that also had its heart-rending moments.

Kennedy, campaigning for the Democratic presidential nomination at the time, did a walk-on as the theater group was rehearsing, explaining he was practicing for "show biz" in case he lost the nomination.

Needless to say, that was probably the president - elects last appearance before the theater floodlights.

But other human interest stories weren't as light in nature. Such as one event affecting a West Virginian in far off Agadir, Morocco.

Mrs. Sue Martins, young and attractive wife of Lt. Gerald Martins of St. Albans, was trapped in the ruins of a hotel leveled by an earthquake.

The lieutenant and his baby daughter escaped with minor injuries, but Mrs. Martins was given up for dead by everyone except her husband. He refused to leave the scene until he definitely knew her fate.

Boys On Girls' Mind

Martins' urging of rescuers to continue the search for Mrs. Martins paid off. She was found alive. After a few days of rest, the entire family was well and happy again.

Boys, as usual, occupied the minds of many West Virginia girls this year. One young beauty attending a conservation camp was asked what she liked best about the place. Her reply was short and to the point: "Boys."

And another young lady wrote the Conservation Commission for information about the state's fishing laws. Her boy friend was a fisherman, she said, and she wanted to know if it would be allright for her to go along on the fishing trip and sit on the bank with him.

Some members of the Hardy County Farm Women's Club had a shattering experience after setting out on a sightseeing tour of the nation's capital.

Old Bottle Found

He never did show up and the woman had to wait some time until another driver was acquired.

Speaking of traveling, a bottle containing a note dropped into the North Atlantic in December, 1952, by a South Charleston man on Coast Guard duty, brought results in 1960. The note asked the finder to write.

Bernard G. DeLois received a letter this year from an Iceland resident who said he had picked the bottle out of the ocean last April 7.

Sen. Robert C. Byrd set a record this year for non - travel. He presided over the Senate during a Civil Rights filibuster for a record 21 hours and 8 minutes. And he still looked pretty fresh when he finally turned over the seat to someone else.

Roane County probably can claim one of the most honest West Virginians. He's Charles Robinson of Walton.

Robinson entered a Charleston bank and asked for $500 in $1 bills. The teller handed him 10 packages of bills. Robinson said she had given him too much money.

The man continued to argue and finally another official of the bank showed up and took a look at the packages. Each of them contained $20 bills instead of $1's.

Pledges Scholarship

A Charleston business man, William J. Maier Jr., pledged $2 million for a scholarship fund for needy students at Harvard University.

A graduate of Harvard, Maier said he had always wanted to provide a fund to help other persons to benefit from an education at the school.

A 19-year-old Fairmont area girl could attest to the fact that prisoners at the Moundsville State Penitentiary are not all the hardened personalities that some think.

Sharon Hearn was critically injured in a sledding accident, and a hospital didn't have enough of her blood type on hand for transfusions.

A quick call was made to the prison and five inmates immediately volunteered to provide the blood. Their generosity saved Sharon's life.

Church Class Holds Annual Holiday Party

FROSTBURG — The annual Christmas party was held for members of the Philathea Class of First English Baptist Church following a covered dish supper recently.

The tables and room were festively decorated by the committee consisting of Mrs. Anna Myers, Mrs. Eva Reidler and Miss Margaret Price. The business session preceded the party with Harriet Bradley, president, in charge. The devotional scripture was read by Miss Bradley followed by prayer by Mrs. Doris Ward.

The program with Mrs. Rae Pugh as program chairman was as follows:

Group singing, silent night; "A December Night, Long, Long Ago," Mrs. Martha Hosken; "Christmas Housecleaning," Mrs. Ward; "Something About Christmas," Miss Margaret Price; "The Sailors Christmas," Mrs. Marion Geary; "At Christmas Time," Mrs. Mern Stewart; "Christmas Meditation," Mrs. Catherine Minnicks.

A playlet entitled, "The Shepherds Story" concluded the program with Mrs. Sarah Ansel, Mrs. Flora Logsdon, Mrs. Sarah Snelson, and Miss Della Offman as narrators and background singing by a trio consisting of Mrs. Pugh, Mrs. Ward, and Miss Bradley.

The annual offering was received and $40 was given to the church rug fund. The Christmas project of making bedroom slippers for members of the Baptist Home for Women in Baltimore was reported as completed and delivered. A letter was read from Miss Nellie Harvey, a resident of the home and a former Philathea Class member. An afghan, made by the class members was presented to Rev. and Mrs. Marvin Simpson who were also guests at the dinner.

The party was concluded with the exchange of gifts.

Girl, 13, Dies Following Open Heart Surgery

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—A 13-year-old South Charleston girl whose open - heart surgery was the subject of a two-hour television program here this week died Thursday of post-operative complications.

A member of the surgical team that performed the operation last Friday at a Charleston hospital, said Joan Cadle died of a "complication that is very rare." A video-tape recording of the operation was presented Sunday by WCHS-TV.

Emphasizing that the five-hour surgery to close a "medium size" hole in the wall of Joan's heart between two ventricals was a success. The surgeon said she lacked sufficient "platelets" which help control bleeding in the human body. This internal bleeding began on the third day after the girl's operation.

Dr. Morris O'Dell said "this occurs occasionally after massive transfusions, use of an artificial kidney and a heart pump."

Joan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Park Cadle of the Spring Hill section of South Charleston, was found to have a congenital heart defect after she suffered fainting spells.

Numerous blood transfusions were required, as is the custom in all such surgery, and a heart pump was used to carry on the circulation functions of the body during the operation.

"We know of no way to prevent such bleeding when it does occur," the surgeon said. "As long as the patient's bleeding does not go into any vital area, there is a chance for recovery."

Crash Victims Die

WELCH, W. Va. (UPI)—Elmer Puckett, of Bradshaw, McDowell County, and B. Hobbs, of Brenton, Wyoming County, both injured last Sunday in a two-car collision on U. S. 52 near Iaeger, died in a Welch hospital Thursday. Funeral arrangements were incomplete.

Title Battle Is Scheduled For March 20

Florida Gets First Heavy Championship Contest Since 1934

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Promoter Jack Fugazy said Thursday heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson would defend his title Monday, March 20, at the Miami Beach, Fla., Convention Hall against ex-champ Ingemar Johansson.

Fugazy, managing director of Feature Sports, Inc., made the announcement at a news conference in a midtown hotel after a meeting of the board of directors of the corporation that promoted the second Patterson-Johansson bout last June 20.

Guarantee Posted

William MacDonald, prominent Miami Beach sportsman, posted a substantial guarantee to bring the fight to Miami Beach. Fugazy refused to confirm reports that it was between $450,000 and $500,000.

William Fugazy, president of Feature Sports, returned Thursday morning from a trip to Goteborg, Sweden, where he conferred with Johansson. He brought with him a statement by the ex-champ which gave the promoters permission to name the site and date.

Jack Fugazy, 74-year-old promoter, said Roy Cohn, legal counsel for the promoters, had talked with the "Patterson people" who were "very much impressed with the site and date and expressed their satisfaction."

Neither Cus D'Amato, Patterson's manager who is unlicensed in New York, the champ nor any of Johansson's representatives was present at the conference.

The Miami Beach hall holds 18,000. Fugazy said it would be scaled from $1,000,000 capacity with tickets ranging from $100 to $20. However, Fugazy said he would settle for a $750,000 gate.

Dan Driscoll, a lawyer who is secretary of the corporation, said there would be an announcement within two weeks about the division of ancillary rights from closed circuit TV, Movies, radio and foreign rights. Each fighter will receive 25 per cent of the live gate at the hall.

Carnera Beat Loughran

The last heavyweight title fight held in Miami was March 1, 1934, when Primo Carnera, 270, outpointed Tommy Loughran, 184, in 15 rounds.

This will be the third bout between Johansson and Patterson. The Swede floored Patterson seven times and stopped him in 2:03 of the third round in a tremendous upset, June 26, 1959 at the Yankee Stadium in New York. Patterson, who was the youngest ever to win the title when he beat Archie Moore in 1950 at the age of 21, became the first man to win it back when he knocked out Johansson in 1:51 of the fifth last June 20 at New York's Polo Grounds.

Johansson, 28, has a 22-1 record with 14 knockouts. The defeat by Patterson in June was his first since leaving the amateurs. Patterson, 25, will be 26 on Jan. 4. He has a 36-2 record. After winning the title in 1956 he defended it four times before he lost the crown to the Swede's hammering right hand.

Musselman Halted By Charles Town

Coach Ronnie Phillips' Charles Town Panthers scored their initial win of the basketball season by defeating Musselman High School last night by the score of 59-45.

The win gave Charles Town a 1-1 record. The defeat was Musselman's first in four starts.

Jack Onslow, Former Major Leaguer, Dies

Baseball Career Covered 48 Years

CONCORD, Mass. (UPI)—John James (Jack) Onslow, who spent 48 of his 72 years as a player, manager and scout in the major leagues, died Thursday of a heart attack at Emerson Hospital.

A longtime resident of West Acton, he broke into the majors with the Detroit Tigers as a catcher in 1912. He played in 31 games and batted .159.

Acquired Nellie Fox

His most notable achievement in the big leagues was the acquisition of infielder Nellie Fox for the Chicago White Sox in 1950. Onslow was the Sox manager when Fox was acquired from the old Philadelphia Athletics.

Fox later proved himself as one of the greatest infielders in the American League. Onslow often pointed with pride to the trade that brought the tobacco-chewing second baseman to Chicago.

At his death, Onslow was a scout with the Boston Red Sox.

Was Pirate Coach

Sent to the old New York Giants in 1917, he appeared in nine games and hit .250. Ending his career as an active player, Onslow then went to the Pittsburgh Pirates as a coach under manager Bill McKechnie.

In 1934, he was hired as a coach for the Boston Red Sox and worked with Sox manager Bucky Harris. Onslow later managed the Hartford, Conn., team in the old Eastern League during the late 1930's.

Onslow had been out of baseball four years when he joined the White Sox as a scout in 1946. A year later he was given the seventh-place Waterloo club of the three-eye league and won the playoffs.

He also managed Memphis in the Southern Association before becoming Sox manager at the tailend of the 1948 season. The White Sox finished last in 1948, sixth in 1949 and again in 1950 when Onslow was replaced in 1951 by Paul Richards.

Born At Scottdale

Born Oct. 13, 1888 at Scottdale, Pa., Onslow is survived by his widow, the former Vivian Skrupa, and a brother, Edward, of Scio, Ohio.

Title Battle Is Scheduled For March 20

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Fugazy, managing director of Feature Sports, Inc., made the announcement at a news conference in a midtown hotel after a meeting of the board of directors of the corporation that promoted the second Patterson-Johansson bout last June 20.

Guarantee Posted

William MacDonald, prominent Miami Beach sportsman, posted a substantial guarantee to bring the fight to Miami Beach. Fugazy refused to confirm reports that it was between $450,000 and $500,000.

William Fugazy, president of Feature Sports, returned Thursday morning from a trip to Goteborg, Sweden, where he conferred with Johansson. He brought with him a statement by the ex-champ which gave the promoters permission to name the site and date.

Jack Fugazy, 74-year-old promoter, said Roy Cohn, legal counsel for the promoters, had talked with the "Patterson people" who were "very much impressed with the site and date and expressed their satisfaction."

Neither Cus D'Amato, Patterson's manager who is unlicensed in New York, the champ nor any of Johansson's representatives was present at the conference.

The Miami Beach hall holds 18,000. Fugazy said it would be scaled from $1,000,000 capacity with tickets ranging from $100 to $20. However, Fugazy said he would settle for a $750,000 gate.

Dan Driscoll, a lawyer who is secretary of the corporation, said there would be an announcement within two weeks about the division of ancillary rights from closed circuit TV, Movies, radio and foreign rights. Each fighter will receive 25 per cent of the live gate at the hall.

Carnera Beat Loughran

The last heavyweight title fight held in Miami was March 1, 1934, when Primo Carnera, 270, outpointed Tommy Loughran, 184, in 15 rounds.

This will be the third bout between Johansson and Patterson. The Swede floored Patterson seven times and stopped him in 2:03 of the third round in a tremendous upset, June 26, 1959 at the Yankee Stadium in New York. Patterson, who was the youngest ever to win the title when he beat Archie Moore in 1956 at the age of 21, became the first man to win it back when he knocked out Johansson in 1:51 of the fifth last June 20 at New York's Polo Grounds.

Johansson, 28, has a 22-1 record with 14 knockouts. The defeat by Patterson in June was his first since leaving the amateurs. Patterson, 25, will be 26 on Jan. 4. He has a 36-2 record. After winning the title in 1956 he defended it four times before he lost the crown to the Swede's hammering right hand.

Musselman Halted By Charles Town

Coach Ronnie Phillips' Charles Town Panthers scored their initial win of the basketball season by defeating Musselman High School last night by the score of 59-45.

The win gave Charles Town a 1-1 record. The defeat was Musselman's first in four starts.

Baseball Career Covered 48 Years

CONCORD, Mass. (UPI)—John James (Jack) Onslow, who spent 48 of his 72 years as a player, manager and scout in the major leagues, died Thursday of a heart attack at Emerson Hospital.

A longtime resident of West Acton, he broke into the majors with the Detroit Tigers as a catcher in 1912. He played in 31 games and batted .159.

Acquired Nellie Fox

His most notable achievement in the big leagues was the acquisition of infielder Nellie Fox for the Chicago White Sox in 1950. Onslow was the Sox manager when Fox was acquired from the old Philadelphia Athletics.

Fox later proved himself as one of the greatest infielders in the American League. Onslow often pointed with pride to the trade that brought the tobacco-chewing second baseman to Chicago.

At his death, Onslow was a scout with the Boston Red Sox.

Was Pirate Coach

Sent to the old New York Giants in 1917, he appeared in nine games and hit .250. Ending his career as an active player, Onslow then went to the Pittsburgh Pirates as a coach under manager Bill McKechnie.

In 1934, he was hired as a coach for the Boston Red Sox and worked with Sox manager Bucky Harris. Onslow later managed the Hartford, Conn., team in the old Eastern League during the late 1930's.

Onslow had been out of baseball four years when he joined the White Sox as a scout in 1946. A year later he was given the seventh-place Waterloo club of the three-eye league and won the playoffs.

He also managed Memphis in the Southern Association before becoming Sox manager at the tailend of the 1948 season. The White Sox finished last in 1948, sixth in 1949 and again in 1950 when Onslow was replaced in 1951 by Paul Richards.

Born At Scottdale

Born Oct. 13, 1888 at Scottdale, Pa., Onslow is survived by his widow, the former Vivian Skrupa, and a brother, Edward, of Scio, Ohio.

Tropical Daily Double Is Whopping $2,347.20

Only Two Out Of 21 People With Winning Tickets Give Names

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 22 (AP)—The Tropical Park daily double paid a whopping $2,347.20 today and only two of the 21 people who held winning tickets would give their names when they cashed their tickets.

It was the first daily double of the meeting to pay more than $600 and thus come under an internal Revenue Bureau directive requiring that all winners of $600 for a $2 wager identify themselves before being paid.

Tropical Park acted under a Florida State attorney general's ruling that tracks must nonor winning tickets—with or without identification. This fact was announced to the fans over the public address system immediateiy after the second race.

The cashiers presented an identification form to the daily double winners but did not press for the information and paid off immediately when refused.

The big double was set up when Patricia's Shoe won the first race and paid $181.90. Regal Rythm ($20.90) won the second race.

In the featured seventh race Leonard Sasso's Penowa Rullah, the 2-1, favorite, got through on the rail and outfinished Foreign Land by a nose. Charles Admiral was third. The winner, ridden by John Rotz, went six furlongs in 1:11 and paid $6.70, 3.70 and 2.90.

Gonzaga Cager Paces Scorers

Burgess Posts 32.2; Stith Is Runner-Up

NEW YORK (UPI) — Oscar Robertson's graduation to the pro ranks is threatening to produce a real dogfight for the major college basketball individual scoring championship he dominated for three years.

The first statistics on the 1960-61 season released Thursday by the NCAA Service Bureau show that Frank Burgess of Gonzaga University is the current leader with a 32.2 average in nine games. Tom Stith of St. Bonaventure is a close second with 31.3 and Chet Walker of Bradley is not too far off at 28.7.

Robertson, the "Big O" of Cincinnati fame, won the scoring title for the last three seasons, and Burgess is the first player other than Robertson to lead the scorers in any single week since Feb. 24, 1958.

Burgess, a senior guard, averaged 28.9 points per game last season to finish fifth in the point parade. Stith was runnerup to Robertson with a 31.5 average.

California Takes Consolation Tilt

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — The California Bears easily defeated the plague-ridden University of Illinois team in the consolation game of the University of Kentucky Invitational Basketball tournament Thursday night 72-54.

Bill McClintock led the night's scoring with 16 followed by John Wessels of Illinois with 15.

Kentucky met St. Louis in the finals.

California took the lead at 2-1 and was never in trouble. By halftime the Bears led 29-18.

Illinois went 10½ minutes in the first half without a field goal and California outrebounded the Illini consistently throughout the game.

Browns Sign Grecni

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Browns Thursday announced they have signed Dick Grecni of Ohio University for the 1961 National Football League season.

Grecni, a 228-pound center and linebacker who lives in Akron, was drafted by the Browns in the 13th round in 1959. He has been chosen to play in the East-West college game. Ohio University was the nation's No. 1 small college football team in 1960.

Bids Are Advertised For New Stadium

NEW YORK (AP)—New York City's Department of Parks Thursday advertised for bids for the proposed new stadium at Flushing Meadows in Queens which is scheduled to be used by New York's new entry in the National League. The New York team is due to start operating in 1962.

Geatz's City Champs Open Title Defense

SS. Peter-Paul Gym Game Site; Ft. Hill Holds 25-24 Edge

LaSalle High School's Explorers will open defense of the city basketball championship they won last season when they do battle with Fort Hill High's Sentinels tonight at SS. Peter and Paul gymnasium at 8 o'clock.

Officials will be Jack Burner and "Moose" Arnone.

Coach George Geatz's teams have won outright or shared the city crown for the past three years. Last season the Explorers made a clean sweep of four games. In 1959 the race ended in a triple tie, each team posting 2-2 records while the previous year LaSalle tied Fort Hill for the honors at 3-1.

Tonight's game is the fiftieth of the series between the schools. Since the first meeting in 1937, the Sentinels hold a 25-24 edge in wins. Thus, a victory for the Explorers tonight would tie up the all-time series. The scores of last year's games were 52-50 and 65-46.

Twelve of the 49 games played to date have been decided by the margin of from one to three points. Three of the five games decided by a single point were won by the Sentinels.

LaSalle is off to a flying start this season and has won four of the five games played to date. The Geatzmen have won over Bayard and Ridgeley in the Potomac Valley Conference, Mt. Savage and Valley and lost to Central Catholic at Pittsburgh.

Fort Hill launched its season on Wednesday night and dropped a 66-51 decision to the Bulldogs at Martinsburg.

LaSalle And Fort Hill Play 50th Game Of Series Tonight

TEST EXPLORERS TONIGHT—Fort Hill High School's Sentinels will make their 1960-61 local debut tonight when they tackle LaSalle's defending city champions in the first intra-city battle of the season at SS. Peter & Paul gym. It's the 50th game of their series and the Sentinels hold a 25-24 edge in games won. Fort Hill dropped its opener at Martinsburg Wednesday night. Members of the Fort Hill squad, left to right: Richard Bittner, Jim Rice, Bill Colbert, Coach Jim Eckard, Glen Shipway, George Twigg, Dick Peck and Harry Bosley.

Tropical Daily Double Is Whopping $2,347.20

Only Two Out Of 21 People With Winning Tickets Give Names

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 22 (AP)—The Tropical Park daily double paid a whopping $2,347.20 today and only two of the 21 people who held winning tickets would give their names when they cashed their tickets.

It was the first daily double of the meeting to pay more than $600 and thus come under an internal Revenue Bureau directive requiring that all winners of $600 for a $2 wager identify themselves before being paid.

Tropical Park acted under a Florida State attorney general's ruling that tracks must nonor winning tickets—with or without identification. This fact was announced to the fans over the public address system immediateiy after the second race.

The cashiers presented an identification form to the daily double winners but did not press for the information and paid off immediately when refused.

The big double was set up when Patricia's Shoe won the first race and paid $181.90. Regal Rythm ($20.90) won the second race.

In the featured seventh race Leonard Sasso's Penowa Rullah, the 2-1, favorite, got through on the rail and outfinished Foreign Land by a nose. Charles Admiral was third. The winner, ridden by John Rotz, went six furlongs in 1:11 and paid $6.70, 3.70 and 2.90.

Gonzaga Cager Paces Scorers

Burgess Posts 32.2; Stith Is Runner-Up

NEW YORK (UPI) — Oscar Robertson's graduation to the pro ranks is threatening to produce a real dogfight for the major college basketball individual scoring championship he dominated for three years.

The first statistics on the 1960-61 season released Thursday by the NCAA Service Bureau show that Frank Burgess of Gonzaga University is the current leader with a 32.2 average in nine games. Tom Stith of St. Bonaventure is a close second with 31.3 and Chet Walker of Bradley is not too far off at 28.7.

Robertson, the "Big O" of Cincinnati fame, won the scoring title for the last three seasons, and Burgess is the first player other than Robertson to lead the scorers in any single week since Feb. 24, 1958.

Burgess, a senior guard, averaged 28.9 points per game last season to finish fifth in the point parade. Stith was runnerup to Robertson with a 31.5 average.

California Takes Consolation Tilt

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — The California Bears easily defeated the plague-ridden University of Illinois team in the consolation game of the University of Kentucky Invitational Basketball tournament Thursday night 72-54.

Bill McClintock led the night's scoring with 16 followed by John Wessels of Illinois with 15.

Kentucky met St. Louis in the finals.

California took the lead at 2-1 and was never in trouble. By halftime the Bears led 29-18.

Illinois went 10½ minutes in the first half without a field goal and California outrebounded the Illini consistently throughout the game.

Browns Sign Grecni

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Browns Thursday announced they have signed Dick Grecni of Ohio University for the 1961 National Football League season.

Grecni, a 228-pound center and linebacker who lives in Akron, was drafted by the Browns in the 13th round in 1959. He has been chosen to play in the East-West college game. Ohio University was the nation's No. 1 small college football team in 1960.

Geatz's City Champs Open Title Defense

SS. Peter-Paul Gym Game Site; Ft. Hill Holds 25-24 Edge

LaSalle High School's Explorers will open defense of the city basketball championship they won last season when they do battle with Fort Hill High's Sentinels tonight at SS. Peter and Paul gymnasium at 8 o'clock.

Officials will be Jack Burner and "Moose" Arnone.

Coach George Geatz's teams have won outright or shared the city crown for the past three years. Last season the Explorers made a clean sweep of four games. In 1959 the race ended in a triple tie, each team posting 2-2 records while the previous year LaSalle tied Fort Hill for the honors at 3-1.

Tonight's game is the fiftieth of the series between the schools. Since the first meeting in 1937, the Sentinels hold a 25-24 edge in wins. Thus, a victory for the Explorers tonight would tie up the all-time series. The scores of last year's games were 52-50 and 65-46.

Twelve of the 49 games played to date have been decided by the margin of from one to three points. Three of the five games decided by a single point were won by the Sentinels.

LaSalle is off to a flying start this season and has won four of the five games played to date. The Geatzmen have won over Bayard and Ridgeley in the Potomac Valley Conference, Mt. Savage and Valley and lost to Central Catholic at Pittsburgh.

Fort Hill launched its season on Wednesday night and dropped a 66-51 decision to the Bulldogs at Martinsburg.

Strength In Oil Fails To Halt Market Decline

NEW YORK (UPI)—Continued strength in the oil shares failed to prevent the stock market from dipping into lower ground Thursday.

Even American Telephone was shaved for 1 points along with lower prices for aircrafts, chemicals, steels, steels, drugs, photo stocks and building materials. Rails showed surprising strength on average.

The Dow-Jones industrial average lost 2.11 at 613.31 due to weakness in AT&T, Allied Chemical, Du Pont and Union Carbide. The rails gained a large 1.02 to 129.10 as B&O tacked on a point, Southern Railway ⅞ and Missouri Pacific a fat 3¾ to 39¾.

Utility stocks managed a gain of 0.28 to 98.75 largely resulting from gains of 1¼ each in Consolidated Edison and Consolidated Natural Gas. Volume fell along with the prices to 3,820,000 shares from 4,060,000 Wednesday.

Investors dealt with another broad market totaling 1,260 issues. These included 536 losers, 491 gainers and 233 which held unchanged. New highs, however, maintained a wide margin over new lows—41 to 19.

Strength In Oil Fails To Halt Market Decline

NEW YORK (UPI)—Continued strength in the oil shares failed to prevent the stock market from dipping into lower ground Thursday.

Even American Telephone was shaved for 1 points along with lower prices for aircrafts, chemicals, steels, steels, drugs, photo stocks and building materials. Rails showed surprising strength on average.

The Dow-Jones industrial average lost 2.11 at 613.31 due to weakness in AT&T, Allied Chemical, Du Pont and Union Carbide. The rails gained a large 1.02 to 129.10 as B&O tacked on a point, Southern Railway ⅞ and Missouri Pacific a fat 3¾ to 39¾.

Utility stocks managed a gain of 0.28 to 98.75 largely resulting from gains of 1¼ each in Consolidated Edison and Consolidated Natural Gas. Volume fell along with the prices to 3,820,000 shares from 4,060,000 Wednesday.

Investors dealt with another broad market totaling 1,260 issues. These included 536 losers, 491 gainers and 233 which held unchanged. New highs, however, maintained a wide margin over new lows—41 to 19.

Card Of Thanks

We wish to thank our relatives, friends and neighbors for their kindness to us during our recent bereavement, the death of our beloved husband and father, Isaac C. Spiker. We also wish to thank those who sent flowers, the pallbearers and those who loaned cars for the funeral.
Sadly Missed by
WIFE AND CHILDREN

I wish to thank all my relatives, friends and neighbors for their help and kindness at the death of my husband Harry Welton Wolfe. My thanks to the pallbearers, those who sent flowers or gave the use of their cars, or in any way gave me much needed help and kindness.
MRS. HARRY WOLFE

In Memoriam

In loving memory of my dear father, Thornton E. Poole, who died 2 years ago Dec. 22nd, 1958.
Just a thought of sweet remembrance,
Just a memory sad and true,
Just the love and sweet devotion
Of one who thinks of you.
Sadly missed by his daughter
AUDREY

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was married just three months when my husband was shipped overseas. He will be coming home next month and I'm going to San Diego to meet him. We've been separated eight months and I'm so excited I could just faint.

Yesterday Mom announced that she'd like to go with me. She says she has heard such wonderful things about San Diego and she'd love to see the white sand and sea gulls. I DON'T WANT HER ON THIS TRIP. What can I do?—MAD

DEAR MAD: Tell her in plain language this is going to be a second honeymoon, not a bird-watching expedition, and to please stay home.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: If I'm wrong tell me. I'm a mother who feels children should not be allowed complete run of the kitchen. My sister's children go into her refrigerator whenever they feel like it. Any hour of the day or evening they can be found eatinig in any room of the house. I have a neighbor whose kids eat all day long. They come over here eating cookies or jam sandwiches, and they even walk around knawing on chicken legs.

My children are poor eaters. If I let them snack between meals they wouldn't have any appetites. My husband says I'm wrong to order them to keep out of the refrigerator. Am I? — AGGRAVATED

DEAR AGGRAVATED: Kids should not be permitted to eat anything they want at any hour of the day or night. Snacks, however, are nourishing and you ought to prepare special things for the children — particularly when they come home from school. Give them a choice and let them help themselves.

I dislike the idea of ordering kids to stay out of the icebox. Perhaps one reason your youngsters have poor appetites is that you've made food seem "forbidden" and their little subconscious minds don't know when it's meal time.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I've read your column so long I feel you are a close friend. Please help me do what's right. I'm stumped.

Eight months ago I moved into this rooming house. The landlady is a sweet elderly person (reminds me of my own grandmother) and I've grown to admire and respect her. I always paid the rent by check but last July she asked me to pay her in cash. I agreed, although it occurred to me that she wanted this arrangement to get out of paying income taxes on the money.

I never insulted her by asking for a receipt but now I see this was foolish. Last week she told me Iowe her two months back rent and to please hurry as she needs the money. I am 22, have never been a dead beat, and I'm sure her memory is failing. Should I spare her feelings, pay the money which she claims I owe her and insist on a receipt from now on?—SONNY

DEAR SONNY: I don't know how well-heeled you are, but if you've got two months rent to throw away go ahead. It seems to me, however, this would be ridiculous. Most people have enough trouble paying the rent once. In the future be sure to pay by check. You sound like such a sweet, gullible guy I thought I'd better spell everything out.

CONFIDENTIAL TO ANTI-WOMEN DRIVERS: You're wrong. Insurance company statistics show that the mascaraed monsters of the macadam have fewer accidents (per mile driven) than men.

To learn the difference between a marriage that "settles down" and one that "get. dull," send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "What To Expect From Marriage," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Veteran Member Of W. Va. House Dies In Mullens

MULLENS, W. Va. (UPI) —Funeral services will be held here Saturday for Paul Bower, 49, a veteran Democratic member of the West Virginia House of Delegates.

Bower, who operated an insurance agency here, died at a Mullens hospital early Thursday, following a brief illness.

Just elected to a new House term in November, Bower had served as delegate in 1952, 1954 and 1956. Survivors include his mother, widow, a son and a half-brother.

His successor in the House will be picked by Gov. Cecil H. Underwood from a list of possible candidates to be submitted by the Wyoming County Democratic Executive Committee.

Services Held

MARTINSBURG, W. Va. (UPI) — Funeral services were held here Thursday for a Berkeley County woman killed in an auto accident Tuesday near her home. The victim was Mrs. Daisy Virginia Pine, 80, of Darkesville.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was married just three months when my husband was shipped overseas. He will be coming home next month and I'm going to San Diego to meet him. We've been separated eight months and I'm so excited I could just faint.

Yesterday Mom announced that she'd like to go with me. She says she has heard such wonderful things about San Diego and she'd love to see the white sand and sea gulls. I DON'T WANT HER ON THIS TRIP. What can I do?—MAD

DEAR MAD: Tell her in plain language this is going to be a second honeymoon, not a bird-watching expedition, and to please stay home.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: If I'm wrong tell me. I'm a mother who feels children should not be allowed complete run of the kitchen. My sister's children go into her refrigerator whenever they feel like it. Any hour of the day or evening they can be found eatinig in any room of the house. I have a neighbor whose kids eat all day long. They come over here eating cookies or jam sandwiches, and they even walk around knawing on chicken legs.

My children are poor eaters. If I let them snack between meals they wouldn't have any appetites. My husband says I'm wrong to order them to keep out of the refrigerator. Am I? — AGGRAVATED

DEAR AGGRAVATED: Kids should not be permitted to eat anything they want at any hour of the day or night. Snacks, however, are nourishing and you ought to prepare special things for the children — particularly when they come home from school. Give them a choice and let them help themselves.

I dislike the idea of ordering kids to stay out of the icebox. Perhaps one reason your youngsters have poor appetites is that you've made food seem "forbidden" and their little subconscious minds don't know when it's meal time.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I've read your column so long I feel you are a close friend. Please help me do what's right. I'm stumped.

Eight months ago I moved into this rooming house. The landlady is a sweet elderly person (reminds me of my own grandmother) and I've grown to admire and respect her. I always paid the rent by check but last July she asked me to pay her in cash. I agreed, although it occurred to me that she wanted this arrangement to get out of paying income taxes on the money.

I never insulted her by asking for a receipt but now I see this was foolish. Last week she told me Iowe her two months back rent and to please hurry as she needs the money. I am 22, have never been a dead beat, and I'm sure her memory is failing. Should I spare her feelings, pay the money which she claims I owe her and insist on a receipt from now on?—SONNY

DEAR SONNY: I don't know how well-heeled you are, but if you've got two months rent to throw away go ahead. It seems to me, however, this would be ridiculous. Most people have enough trouble paying the rent once. In the future be sure to pay by check. You sound like such a sweet, gullible guy I thought I'd better spell everything out.

CONFIDENTIAL TO ANTI-WOMEN DRIVERS: Youre wrong. Insurance company statistics show that the mascaraed monsters of the macadam have fewer accidents (per mile driven) than men.

To learn the difference between a marriage that "settles down" and one that "get. dull," send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "What To Expect From Marriage," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Area Shivers In Coldest Spell Of Year

Garrett County Has 10 Below

Temperatures plunged sharply last night as the Tri-State area shivered in the coldest spell of this winter. The mercury fell to 10 below zero in Garrett County and was expected to dip below zero in Cumberland.

Yesterday was clear and cold with sunny skies and very little wind. The temperature reached a high of 20 degrees at Constitution Park yesterday and was up to 15 degrees in Oakland.

At 6 o'clock here last evening it had dropped to 12 above, then in the next three hours it plummeted quickly to five above.

An official low of four above was recorded yesterday morning at Constitution Park, but weather observers said it would be much lower today.

Garrett County had a high of 15 degrees and the mercury registered five above at 6 o'clock. Then the temperature dipped suddenly to lose 15 degrees to 10 below in the next four hours.

Garrett County had a low of 16 below two days ago, but weather observers said if the present trend continued this would be surpassed with readings of 20 to 25 below today.

The four-degrees low is the coldest day this winter for Cumberland and equalled the previous low this year on March 9. Correspondingly last December 23 the lowest temperature of the month was nine above.

Other low readings yesterday included Big Savage in Garrett County which had eight below zero. Frostburg registered zero yesterday morning.

Forecast for today is for clear and continued cold with sunny skies. Temperatures will be in the 20s.

Miss Bonig said several baskets are on hand for distribution today. Each basket contains a chicken or picnic ham, fruits, vegetables, canned goods and staples. The agency last week distributed more than 10,000 toys to be used as Christmas gifts for deserving children of more than 600 area families.

Stores To Air Second Night Opening Issue

Meeting Planned Here January 19

All downtown Cumberland merchants are being invited to attend a meeting planned here January 19 to discuss the advisability of a second night opening.

Sponsored by the Cumberland Retail Merchants' Association, the meeting will be held at 7:30 p. m. in the ballroom of the Fort Cumberland Hotel.

The meeting will be preceded by a "dutch treat" dinner at 6:45 p. m., according to John J. Coyle, association chairman.

All business establishments in the Cumberland downtown area which includes Baltimore Street between the railroads and North Centre, North Liberty and North Mechanic streets between Baltimore and Bedford streets, are invited.

The Retail Merchants Association is advising that the meeting is probably the most important held during the past five years and that it is important that each establishment have an authorized representative present.

Lists Arguments

Letters being mailed today by the association to all interested parties list the principal arguments which have been used to oppose or support proposals for a second shopping night here.

Most merchants who have been opposed to the second night opening, the association said, base their decision on the following:

Remaining open for an additional four hours would mean increased overhead, wages, etc.

Advertising budgets would undoubtedly have to be increased. If advertising budgets are kept the same, they would have to be reallocated and the advertisements would not in all probability be as effective.

The second night opening would not result in increased sales.

The second night opening would result in the merchants not being able to render the same service due to the fact that they would undoubtedly have to split the shifts of their employes.

Cite Urgency

Those in favor of the second night opening, it said, base their decision on the following:

Customers would be provided with an additional night to shop, which would result in increased sales, as it is felt that Cumberland would then be in competition with the shopping center which will be open six nights per week.

It would not be necessary to increase their overhead because merchants who do not desire to increase their overhead and the salaries of employes could remain closed one or two mornings per week.

If all merchants would reallocate their advertising budgets on the same dollar basis they now use, the advertising would be just as effective.

The businesses located in a shopping center will undoubtedly do some business, a large majority of which will be drawn from the downtown merchants. Positive action must be taken now if the downtown merchants are to retain their present sales volume.

Future School Needs Will Be Studied

Report Asked By Planning Unit

The Allegany County Planning Commission last night called upon a consultant to give recommendations for future schools needs in the county.

Julian Tarrant of Richmond, Va., a representative of Ladislas Segoe and Associates of Cincinnati, Ohio, said he couldn't "give the answers now," but that there would have to be a serious, thorough and careful study of the problem now facing the Allegany County Board of Education.

Recently the School Board proposed an outlay for new facilities and school expansion plans which would cost an estimated $5 million.

Mr. Tarrant said the matter of the school expansion program came to his attention within recent weeks and he looked into some facts and figures, especially puplations trends.

To Be In Study

The adequacy of the present schools will be included in his study, according to the consultant, who presented planning commission members population trends by district for 1950-1940 and 1930. He also submitted a copy of age composition trends in Allegany County as compared with the national trend for 1940 and 1930. This year's figures he said should be available in the near future.

Richard Winer, chairman of the planning group, said the School Board "can't make a case on the basis of population growth" although the school superintendent has a point in that the type of education, especially in high schools, has changed in recent days.

Today, he said, more classroom space is required for laboratories and the teaching of the sciences. Mr. Winer agreed that the high schools in Cumberland have been over-crowded in the past 15 years.

More Of Problem

John T. Mason, member of the planning group, said he feels the $5 million outlay could endanger the county economy and he feels the county can't afford the amount although the county can't "go backward in education."

Mr. Mason asked the consultant to give recommendations in reference to the problem. John J. Rowan, president of the County Board of Commissioners who sat in on the meeting at the Court House, said "no doubt something has to be done," and he feels at the present time the elementary schools are more of a problem than the high schools.

He said he made a tour of the schools and pointed out in one instance that "LaVale is bulging at the seams." In view of new homes being built in someoutlying sections, Mr. Rowan feels a junior high school would be feasible in the Cresaptown area.

He believes the money should be spent where the population is increasing, citing outlying areas of the county. Mr. Rowan added that the commissioners have until the first of March to submit proposed legislation to the General Assembly pertaining to the school plans.

Control Needed

Junkyards and "auto graveyards" also came up for discussion. Mr. Mason said he feels there is a definite need for control of them in the county area. Mr. Rowan voiced the opinion that no additional permits should be issued until the planning commission comes up with some recommendations.

James Perrin, another member of the planning group, said he felt slaughter houses and garbage dumps should be included in the recommendations which are to be furnished by Mr. Tarrant at the request of Mr. Winer.

Mr. Tarrant informed the commission that about a half dozen men have indicated they are interested in the position of county planner. He has interviewed one of the men and will speak with another next week. Mr. Perrin said he feels the group is interested in getting a planner on the job.

Office plans were studied by the group at the meeting. It will be located in the Court House basement. Facilities will be available for the various aerial photos, mats and a drafting board and tack boards on the walls on which to attach maps.

Suggests Area Unit

Also discussed was the proposal to set up a Regional Planning Area, which according to Mr. Tarrant could harmonize the various municipalities within the area. The regional area could possibly qualify for federal aid, a factor not enjoyed by the county setup.

Mr. Winer said he felt the coun-

Maryland Tax Revenues Are Increasing

Most Sources Surge Ahead Of Last Year

Most major tax revenues of Maryland showed increases last month over November 1959 and after five months of the fiscal year has elapsed, receipts are significantly ahead of the same period of last year, according to Louis L. Goldstein, state comptroller.

Because of unusually high withholding receipts for the third quarter of 1960, income tax receipts which were lagging in the previous months of the year now exceed last year's comparable five month total by $3,371,021.

Receipts for the first five months of fiscal year 1961 were $48,237,637. Of the increase, approximately a half billion dollars is excess corporation tax revenue. A recent survey indicates, however that there will be a slight decline in corporation income tax on 1960 returns.

Receipts Are Up

November receipts from sales and use taxes totalled $6,461,957 as compared with $6,025,380 in November 1959 or $436,577 more, an increase of 7.2 per cent. For the first five months of the fiscal year, sales tax revenue is running $1,726,488 ahead of the corresponding period of last year.

Motor vehicle fuel taxes rose 11 per cent in November 1960 over November 1959 in contrast to October when there was a decline of two per cent. At the close of November, the State had collected $23,787,058 in its current fiscal year as compared to $22,918,965 last year, an increase of $868,093.

Motor vehicle licenses continue to show a slight nicrease as compared to last year. However, the bulk of this revenue will not be received until near the beginning of the next registration year in April 1961.

Record Expected

Motor vehicle titling taxes total $4,560,819 or an increase of $252,078 over the amount collected last year. This is indicative of a trend towards another record high year of revenue from this source.

Although November collections of the state cigaret tax were nearly 10 per cent above receipts for November 1959, the five months total from this source indicates an overall increase for the five month period of only three per cent.

Despite a decrease in the current month, alcoholic beverage excises are running approximately three per cent ahead of last year's figures.

'Mask And Wig' Dramatic Club Formed At LaSalle

"The Mask and Wig" is the name adopted by the reorganized dramatic club at LaSalle High School.

During a reorganizational meeting held at the school, Michael Clarke was named president; Gerald White, vice-president, and William Lovett, secretary.

Brother Richard, FSC, a member of the high school faculty will be in charge of coaching the students in dramatics and Brother Anthony, FSC, will be in charge of staging the productions.

One purpose of the new club is to allow underclassmen to gain acting experience prior to the staging of the senior class play each year.

On Wednesday night the Mothers Club members were honored at Carroll Hall when members of the new organization staged Charles Dicken's "Christmas Carol."

For most of the participants it was their first appearance on stage, according to Brother Anthony, who said the program was presented to the student body Wednesday morning and to the public that night, particularly for the mothers of the students.

In February, students of the freshman, sophomore, junior and senior classes will present one-act plays at intervals of two or three weeks and it will be determined which class presents the best performance, he added.

Brother Anthony said it has been about five years since a dramatic club was part of the extra-curricular activities at the school, although the senior class play has been held annually.

Members of the "Mask and Wig" will stage the annual senior play in May next year, said Brother Anthony.

Men Ordered Held For Jury Action Here

Face Charges In Breaking, Entering

A local young man and a young man from Bowman's Addition yesterday were ordered held for action of the April term of the grand jury in the breaking and entering of Hirsch Brothers building on Cumberland Street Monday night.

Being held in Allegany County Jail in default of $500 bond each are William A. Clark, 27, of 489 Goethe Street, and Frederick C. Miller, 23, Bowman's Addition.

The two men were given a preliminary hearing yesterday afternoon in Trial Magistrate Court before Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt, who set bond at $500 pending action of the grand jury in April.

City Police arrested the two men Wednesday and after being questioned they admitted breaking into the building and attempting to break into the safe.

The men, who are part-time employes of the firm, said they planned the job after work Monday. Police said the pair entered the building Monday about 9 p. m., but fled when an company official returned to the building to make a telephone call.

The attempted safe entry was not discovered until the following morning. The safe contained about $150 in cash.

Wild Guinea Hen Escapes, Perches On House Roofs

A wild guinea hen, one of six purchased by a West Side family for the Christmas holidays, escaped from its pen earlier this week, and local authorities have received a number of reports of a "wild turkey on the loose over here" from residents there.

Police said Game Warden Joseph A. Minke had been notified and checked on the bird which has been perched atop the roofs of houses in the area. At last reports the bird still was enjoying its freedom, despite the near zero weather.

However, its five companions already have been prepared for Christmas dinner.

County Agent Offers Advice On Yule Trees

With the placing of Christmas trees in the homes of the Cumberland area now taking place, a few suggestions for a safer and happier Christmas are being offered by Joseph M. Steger, Allegany County farm agent.

Be sure to select a freshly cut tree . . . keep it watered . . . and never use candles to decorate and illuminate it.

Check your tree light sets before using for loose connections, broken insulation or sockets, according to Mr. Steger, who pointed out that you should make sure the lights and cord sets carry the Underwriters' Laboratories label.

Also be sure the extension cord from the outlet to the tree has large enough wire to carry all of the lights without heating.

If you use cotton at the base of your tree, make sure it has been treated to make it nonflammable and always turn off the tree lights before leaving the house or when no one is going to be in the room for any length of time.

If you decorate out-of-doors, use sets designed for outdoor use. Hang sockets downward so they will not catch water or collect snow or be sure gaskets are used between socket rim and bulb.

Last but not least, check for frayed cords and defects on all electrical toys before using, Mr. Steger concluded.

Salvation Army Kettle Receives $397 During Day

Nearly $400 was collected yesterday at the Salvation Army Christmas cheer kettles with a big assist from the Cumberland Kiwanis Club as the total collections since late November reached about $4,200.

The Kiwanis Club was credited with $397.79, second best for the week. The Fraternal Order of Police was responsible for $423.48 on Wednesday. Two Optimist clubs handled the solicitation earlier in the week. The Cumberland Optimists got $295.04 Monday and the Bedford Road Optimists $231.-13 on Tuesday.

Safe Yuletide Urged By Fire Chief Parker

Families throughout the Tri-State area are being urged by Fire Chief Virgil Parker to make Christmas this year a fire safe one.

Last year in the three days beginning at 6 p. m., on Christmas eve, 43 persons lost their lives in fires in this country.

These 43 fatalities were part of 11,300 fire deaths that occurred in 1959.

The count of Christmas fire deaths the last Yule season was less than in 1958, but the 1958 fatalities covered a four-day Christmas holiday period. In the four days beginning at 6 p. m., December 24, 1958, fire took 93 lives.

"Care can prevent loss of life by fire," Chief Parker said. "Around three-fourths of all fires are caused by carelessness or forgetfulness."

Fire takes no holiday, the Cumberland fire chief said.

Labor Law Didn't Kill Santa Claus

Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell yesterday assured both labor organizations and employers that the Labor-Management Reporting and Disclosure Act does not prohibit traditional Christmas festivities and charitable contributions.

Last year there was some concern expressed regarding customary donations to certain charitable institutions and token gifts to union members. It was thought that such donations by labor unions might be withheld because of the Act's provisions dealing with the fiduciary responsibilities of labor organizations and officers. The Secretary stated then and does again, that the charitable activities of any labor organization are not restricted as long as they are conducted in accordance with the organization's own constitution and by-laws.

He also said the exchange of gifts by employers and labor organizations is not affected by the new law. The same applies to Christmas parties at which an employer or union provides the gifts and entertainment.

Bloodmobile To Visit ABL On January 3

The Bloodmobile Unit from Johnstown, Pa. will make its ninth visit since 1957 to Allegany Ballistics Laboratory when it goes to the plant in Pinto on Tuesday, January 3.

The collection of blood will be from noon until 6 p. m. that day, according to a spokesman for the Allegany County Chapter of the Red Cross, which sponsors the visits to the county.

A spokesman for the Security and Personnel Department at ABL, coordinators of the program at the plant, said that letters have gone out to department heads urging complete cooperation by all employes in order to make this a successful visit of the bloodmobile.

In addition to the letters, donor forms have been sent to various departments for the purpose of registering donors.

Each department has been asked to appoint donor representatives who will be responsible for registering those who wish to give blood.

Area Shivers In Coldest Spell Of Year

Garrett County Has 10 Below

Temperatures plunged sharply last night as the Tri-State area shivered in the coldest spell of this winter. The mercury fell to 10 below zero in Garrett County and was expected to dip below zero in Cumberland.

Yesterday was clear and cold with sunny skies and very little wind. The temperature reached a high of 20 degrees at Constitution Park yesterday and was up to 15 degrees in Oakland.

At 6 o'clock here last evening it had dropped to 12 above, then in the next three hours it plummeted quickly to five above.

An official low of four above was recorded yesterday morning at Constitution Park, but weather observers said it would be much lower today.

Garrett County had a high of 15 degrees and the mercury registered five above at 6 o'clock. Then the temperature dipped suddenly to lose 15 degrees to 10 below in the next four hours.

Garrett County had a low of 16 below two days ago, but weather observers said if the present trend continued this would be surpassed with readings of 20 to 25 below today.

The four-degrees low is the coldest day this winter for Cumberland and equalled the previous low this year on March 9. Correspondingly last December 23 the lowest temperature of the month was nine above.

Other low readings yesterday included Big Savage in Garrett County which had eight below zero. Frostburg registered zero yesterday morning.

Christmas Dinners For The Needy

Miss Jeannette Bonig, left, executive secretary of the Associated Charities, prepares a label on one of the 175 Christmas baskets packed yesterday by the CUF agency. She is being assisted by Mrs. Kathryn V. Lashley, office secretary. The baskets were filled with food supplied by friends of the agency. Miss Bonig said several baskets are on hand for distribution today. Each basket contains a chicken or picnic ham, fruits, vegetables, canned goods and staples. The agency last week distributed more than 10,000 toys to be used as Christmas gifts for deserving children of more than 600 area families.

Maryland Tax Revenues Are Increasing

Most Sources Surge Ahead Of Last Year

Most major tax revenues of Maryland showed increases last month over November 1959 and after five months of the fiscal year has elapsed, receipts are significantly ahead of the same period of last year, according to Louis L. Goldstein, state comptroller.

Because of unusually high withholding receipts for the third quarter of 1960, income tax receipts which were lagging in the previous months of the year now exceed last year's comparable five month total by $3,371,021.

Receipts for the first five months of fiscal year 1961 were $48,237,637. Of the increase, approximately a half billion dollars is excess corporation tax revenue. A recent survey indicates, however that there will be a slight decline in corporation income tax on 1960 returns.

Receipts Are Up

November receipts from sales and use taxes totalled $6,461,957 as compared with $6,025,380 in November 1959 or $436,577 more, an increase of 7.2 per cent. For the first five months of the fiscal year, sales tax revenue is running $1,726,488 ahead of the corresponding period of last year.

Motor vehicle fuel taxes rose 11 per cent in November 1960 over November 1959 in contrast to October when there was a decline of two per cent. At the close of November, the State had collected $23,787,058 in its current fiscal year as compared to $22,918,965 last year, an increase of $868,093.

Motor vehicle licenses continue to show a slight nicrease as compared to last year. However, the bulk of this revenue will not be received until near the beginning of the next registration year in April 1961.

Record Expected

Motor vehicle titling taxes total $4,560,819 or an increase of $252,078 over the amount collected last year. This is indicative of a trend towards another record high year of revenue from this source.

Although November collections of the state cigaret tax were nearly 10 per cent above receipts for November 1959, the five months total from this source indicates an overall increase for the five month period of only three per cent.

Despite a decrease in the current month, alcoholic beverage excises are running approximately three per cent ahead of last year's figures.

'Mask And Wig' Dramatic Club Formed At LaSalle

"The Mask and Wig" is the name adopted by the reorganized dramatic club at LaSalle High School.

During a reorganizational meeting held at the school, Michael Clarke was named president; Gerald White, vice-president, and William Lovett, secretary.

Brother Richard, FSC, a member of the high school faculty will be in charge of coaching the students in dramatics and Brother Anthony, FSC, will be in charge of staging the productions.

One purpose of the new club is to allow underclassmen to gain acting experience prior to the staging of the senior class play each year.

On Wednesday night the Mothers Club members were honored at Carroll Hall when members of the new organization staged Charles Dicken's "Christmas Carol."

For most of the participants it was their first appearance on stage, according to Brother Anthony, who said the program was presented to the student body Wednesday morning and to the public that night, particularly for the mothers of the students.

In February, students of the freshman, sophomore, junior and senior classes will present one-act plays at intervals of two or three weeks and it will be determined which class presents the best performance, he added.

Brother Anthony said it has been about five years since a dramatic club was part of the extra-curricular activities at the school, although the senior class play has been held annually.

Members of the "Mask and Wig" will stage the annual senior play in May next year, said Brother Anthony.

Men Ordered Held For Jury Action Here

Face Charges In Breaking, Entering

A local young man and a young man from Bowman's Addition yesterday were ordered held for action of the April term of the grand jury in the breaking and entering of Hirsch Brothers building on Cumberland Street Monday night.

Being held in Allegany County Jail in default of $500 bond each are William A. Clark, 27, of 489 Goethe Street, and Frederick C. Miller, 23, Bowman's Addition.

The two men were given a preliminary hearing yesterday afternoon in Trial Magistrate Court before Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt, who set bond at $500 pending action of the grand jury in April.

City Police arrested the two men Wednesday and after being questioned they admitted breaking into the building and attempting to break into the safe.

The men, who are part-time employes of the firm, said they planned the job after work Monday. Police said the pair entered the building Monday about 9 p. m., but fled when an company official returned to the building to make a telephone call.

The attempted safe entry was not discovered until the following morning. The safe contained about $150 in cash.

Stores To Air Second Night Opening Issue

Meeting Planned Here January 19

All downtown Cumberland merchants are being invited to attend a meeting planned here January 19 to discuss the advisability of a second night opening.

Sponsored by the Cumberland Retail Merchants' Association, the meeting will be held at 7:30 p. m. in the ballroom of the Fort Cumberland Hotel.

The meeting will be preceded by a "dutch treat" dinner at 6:45 p. m., according to John J. Coyle, association chairman.

All business establishments in the Cumberland downtown area which includes Baltimore Street between the railroads and North Centre, North Liberty and North Mechanic streets between Baltimore and Bedford streets, are invited.

The Retail Merchants Association is advising that the meeting is probably the most important held during the past five years and that it is important that each establishment have an authorized representative present.

Lists Arguments

Letters being mailed today by the association to all interested parties list the principal arguments which have been used to oppose or support proposals for a second shopping night here.

Most merchants who have been opposed to the second night opening, the association said, base their decision on the following:

Remaining open for an additional four hours would mean increased overhead, wages, etc.

Advertising budgets would undoubtedly have to be increased. If advertising budgets are kept the same, they would have to be reallocated and the advertisements would not in all probability be as effective.

The second night opening would not result in increased sales.

The second night opening would result in the merchants not being able to render the same service due to the fact that they would undoubtedly have to split the shifts of their employes.

Cite Urgency

Those in favor of the second night opening, it said, base their decision on the following:

Customers would be provided with an additional night to shop, which would result in increased sales, as it is felt that Cumberland would then be in competition with the shopping center which will be open six nights per week.

It would not be necessary to increase their overhead because merchants who do not desire to increase their overhead and the salaries of employes could remain closed one or two mornings per week.

If all merchants would reallocate their advertising budgets on the same dollar basis they now use, the advertising would be just as effective.

The businesses located in a shopping center will undoubtedly do some business, a large majority of which will be drawn from the downtown merchants. Positive action must be taken now if the downtown merchants are to retain their present sales volume.

Future School Needs Will Be Studied

Report Asked By Planning Unit

The Allegany County Planning Commission last night called upon a consultant to give recommendations for future schools needs in the county.

Julian Tarrant of Richmond, Va., a representative of Ladislas Segoe and Associates of Cincinnati, Ohio, said he couldn't "give the answers now," but that there would have to be a serious, thorough and careful study of the problem now facing the Allegany County Board of Education.

Recently the School Board proposed an outlay for new facilities and school expansion plans which would cost an estimated $5 million.

Mr. Tarrant said the matter of the school expansion program came to his attention within recent weeks and he looked into some facts and figures, especially puplations trends.

To Be In Study

The adequacy of the present schools will be included in his study, according to the consultant, who presented planning commission members population trends by district for 1950-1940 and 1930. He also submitted a copy of age composition trends in Allegany County as compared with the national trend for 1940 and 1930. This year's figures he said should be available in the near future.

Richard Winer, chairman of the planning group, said the School Board "can't make a case on the basis of population growth" although the school superintendent has a point in that the type of education, especially in high schools, has changed in recent days.

Today, he said, more classroom space is required for laboratories and the teaching of the sciences. Mr. Winer agreed that the high schools in Cumberland have been over-crowded in the past 15 years.

More Of Problem

John T. Mason, member of the planning group, said he feels the $5 million outlay could endanger the county economy and he feels the county can't afford the amount although the county can't "go backward in education."

Mr. Mason asked the consultant to give recommendations in reference to the problem. John J. Rowan, president of the County Board of Commissioners who sat in on the meeting at the Court House, said "no doubt something has to be done," and he feels at the present time the elementary schools are more of a problem than the high schools.

He said he made a tour of the schools and pointed out in one instance that "LaVale is bulging at the seams." In view of new homes being built in someoutlying sections, Mr. Rowan feels a junior high school would be feasible in the Cresaptown area.

He believes the money should be spent where the population is increasing, citing outlying areas of the county. Mr. Rowan added that the commissioners have until the first of March to submit proposed legislation to the General Assembly pertaining to the school plans.

Control Needed

Junkyards and "auto graveyards" also came up for discussion. Mr. Mason said he feels there is a definite need for control of them in the county area. Mr. Rowan voiced the opinion that no additional permits should be issued until the planning commission comes up with some recommendations.

James Perrin, another member of the planning group, said he felt slaughter houses and garbage dumps should be included in the recommendations which are to be furnished by Mr. Tarrant at the request of Mr. Winer.

Mr. Tarrant informed the commission that about a half dozen men have indicated they are interested in the position of county planner. He has interviewed one of the men and will speak with another next week. Mr. Perrin said he feels the group is interested in getting a planner on the job.

Office plans were studied by the group at the meeting. It will be located in the Court House basement. Facilities will be available for the various aerial photos, mats and a drafting board and tack boards on the walls on which to attach maps.

Suggests Area Unit

Also discussed was the proposal to set up a Regional Planning Area, which according to Mr. Tarrant could harmonize the various municipalities within the area. The regional area could possibly qualify for federal aid, a factor not enjoyed by the county setup.

Mr. Winer said he felt the coun-
